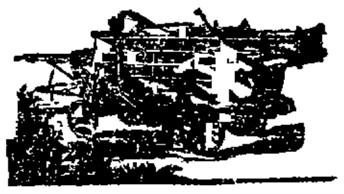
AGENT FOR



The Advance Threshing Machinery.

The best and fastest thresher in America, and a machine that stands without a rival. The ADVANCE Thresher has NEVER been REPLACED by any other machine on the Coast, but has replaced several others that HAVE FAILED to fill WARRANTEE. Why get some OLD STYLE machine because it is cheap when you can get an ADVANCE on the start and do good work in any kind of grain. You do not have to cut and try with the ADVANCE, but start your power, then commence threshing at once. I take the liberty of referring you to the following parties owning ADVANCE Threshers (without their knowledge): Dr. H. A. Davis, Harrisburg, after wasting most of the season trying to run a cheap machine bought an ADVANCE and averaged 2,06 bushels per day. M. F. White & Co., Dixie, same experience, but after getting an ADVANCE averaged 2040 bushels per day. Knox Bros., Albany, with a little 28 inch machine averaged 1650½ bushels per day. Henry L. Bold, Spangle, writes, after trying a —— machine the best part of the season bought an ADVANCE. Was then able to run without a blacksmith and carpenter shop. The ENGINE is guaranteed to pull more than any other, and will outtravel all others on the road. If you hear any loud boasts please tell the parties the ADVANCE THRESHER and ENGINE are sold on their merits entirely. And I am willing to prove all I claim in any field at any time. Do not be humbugged by buying any machine until you see the ADVANCE. I also handle steam fitting goods, iron pipe, laundry machinery and many other specialties. Send for catalogue of what you want.

NORTHWESTERN INTERESTS.

Reversal and Modification of Land Decisions—Postal Notes and Patents

WASHINGTON, May 29.—James A. Forward was refused by the commissioner of the general land office a patent for his pre-emption cash entry of land in section 28, township 20 north, range 33 east, in the Spokane Falls district, Washington territory, the reason assigned being that Forward had made a prior filing for another tract. The claimant proved that he had been forced to abandon his prior claim because, while he had made the first settlement upon it, he found on going to the land office sixty miles away that a homestead entry for the property had been recorded two days before. Secretary Noble has, therefore, reversed the commissioner's decision.

In the case of Nathaniel Scott, who appealed from the commissioner's decision holding for cancellation his timber culture entry for land in section 18, township 3 south, range 24 east, in The Dalles land district, Assistant Secretary Chandler has issued an order modifying the commissioner's decision so as to allow of a hearing to determine the respective rights of Scott and G. H. Neel, between whom a misunderstanding had arisen.

THE SURVEY OF POCATELLO TOWNSITE.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Secretary Noble to-day approved the instructions given by the surveyor general of Idaho to his deputies for the survey of Pocatello townsite, Idaho. The work will begin at once.

THE COMMISSIONERS TO HAYTI

Political Gossip Over the Withdrawal of Wallace and Tucker

WASHINGTON, May 29.—The withdrawal of the appointments of General Lew Wallace and Beverly Tucker as special envoys extraordinary to Hayti has occasioned considerable gossip in political circles about the capital.

It was reported that General Wallace, who was a member of the court which convicted Mrs. Surratt and others for complicity in the assassination of President Lincoln, and who had heard charges of a similar character against General Tucker, had protested against the latter's being on the commission, but that is denied.

It is the general belief that the war record of Tucker brought about the withdrawal of the appointment, and that it is permanent.

It is intimated in official circles that information has been received at the state department which may make the expedition to Hayti unnecessary.

The appointment of Tucker was a surprise in many quarters and brought out considerable severe criticism on the part of ex-Union soldiers. Besides being charged with conspiracy in Lincoln's assassination, Tucker was so nearly successful as special agent for the Confederacy to England in the last years of the war that he would have brought the queen's government into line against the United States had the conflict lasted sixty days longer.

He is an accomplished diplomat, well acquainted with Hayti and the questions involved, and for those reasons was selected. His antebellum record was overlooked at the time of his appointment.

THE NEW ZOOLOGICAL PARK

Reception of an Antelope From Senator Stanford

WASHINGTON, May 29.—The site of the new zoological park for which congress appropriated $200,000 at its last session has been selected by the commission to whom the matter was referred. It lies along the banks of Rock creek, northwest of the city, between Woodley lane and the Klingel road, and comprises about [illegible] acres, delightfully situated and admirably adapted for the purposes.

Senator Stanford has sent to the Smithsonian institution a young antelope from California, to add to the collection for the national zoo. It was eleven days on the trip and reached the park very weak, but is recovering, and Captain Weedin, the keeper, hopes to be able to save it. Heretofore it has been found impossible to keep antelopes in confinement for any length of time.

THE MITKILWITZ CONCESSION.

The Friends of the Count State That the Government Will Renew Them.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—The friends of Count Eugene Mitkiewitz say that the Chinese telegraph and telephone concessions which were granted to him as representative of Wharton Barker and other wealthy capitalists, and which were afterward suspended by another Chinese prime minister, are to be revived.

Mitkiewitz's friends assert now that the concessions will be under his control, and he has associated with a number of wealthy men from New York and the Pacific coast. It is further asserted that Barker will have no hand in the new deal, but that the Chinese government will take stock in the enterprises, and that they will be pushed immediately.

THE RAILWAY MAIL SERVICE.

M.; Portland and [illegible], Or.; Salt Lake, U. T., and Spokane Falls and Seattle, W. T., on Friday, June 14.

SHIFTLESS EXAMINATIONS.

How Ignorant Men Are Given Places Under the Civil Service.

NEW YORK, May 29.—Civil Service Commissioner Roosevelt has brought before the board the matter of examinations for positions in the customs service here. The examinations for entrance to the service take up three days. It was the habit of the officials to allow a man to copy the questions and then retire. Next day those to whom the questions had been given would take examinations and pass perfectly, having had all the answers marked on the outside.

Roosevelt, by a skillful examination of men who had passed examination and were in the service, showed that they were now unable to do the simplest problems. A young man named Hollender, a clerk appointed under the civil service examinations, made a woful display of ignorance. When Roosevelt asked Hollender to write these figures [illegible] plus 4½ minus 1½, the witness wrote [illegible] plus 4½ and broke down on the minus sign, saying that he had forgotten it. But on his examination papers these identical figures were correctly written, and he was asked to explain how that happened.

"I knew them then, but I've forgotten them," he replied.

Being asked to read seventeen thousandths in decimals, witness promptly rendered this answer: "Nought seventeen." When similarly questioned as to five one thousandths he said they meant the same as the other figures. When he was asked to read the figures 1,203,08[illegible]039 and he rendered them thus: "Twelve thousand nought three, nought eight two nought, thirty nine," and brought down the house.

YELLOW FEVER.

A Prediction That Inoculation Will Solve the Terrible Problem

PINE BLUFFS, Ark., May 29.—Dr. Nelson, member of the college of physicians and surgeons of the Province of Quebec and late member of the state board of health of Panama, read a paper yesterday at the fourteenth annual meeting of the state medical society of Arkansas. The subject was "Yellow Fever," and the result of his experiences extending over many years in Panama, Colon, Mexico, Cuba and Tampa, which led to his fold forecast of the Jacksonville epidemic, was brought out.

Particular mention was made in the paper of Dr. Domingo F. Resic, of Rio Janeiro, who is entitled to honor as being the first to recognize and cultivate the germ of yellow fever and to use inoculation as a prophylactic. Mention was also made of the work of Dr. K. Girard, late surgeon in chief of the Panama Canal Company, whose profound faith in the protective power of inoculation was fully shown by his inoculating himself and having a mild form of yellow fever, which was followed by perfect immunity from the disease, and finally the crucial work of Dr. Carlos Findlay and Dr. Delgado, of Havana. Dr. Nelson being personally familiar with the work of these gentlemen, he boldly forecast the day when inoculations against yellow fever will take equal rank with inoculations against smallpox.

THE PHILADELPHIA SUSPECT.

He Believes the Right Clue Has Not Been Struck

CHICAGO, May 29.—Peter McGeehan, the Philadelphia suspect, talking this evening to a reporter, said that several days ago he was taken by a detective to see Mrs. Conklin. She first said McGeehan was not the man who called for the doctor. Then her husband came in and the detective introduced McGeehan in form. Immediately on hearing the name Mrs. Conklin surveyed McGeehan again, and declared positively that he was the man who lured the doctor away. McGeehan said:

"I believe that woman is capable of swearing a man's life away. Conklin had added to her reckless judgment some stories about me that I shall call him to legal account for. Dinan, the livery man, says I do not answer the description of the man wanted. The police now know that I had nothing to do with the case. I believe that the plot, a conspiracy, or whatever you call it, was purely a personal matter, and that the right clue has not been struck, or if found, has not been published."

THE KANSAS CYCLONE.

Great Destruction in Its Path, but no Lives Lost.

MCPHERSON, Ks., May 29.—A cyclone formed about six miles southwest of this city yesterday afternoon, passing almost directly east through the country and striking the earth three times in its passage. Where it struck everything was destroyed.

Three miles east of Elyria it struck John Nightingale's house, taking it from its foundation with all its contents and carrying it entirely away, not a vestige of it having been seen since. The family escaped by taking refuge in the cellar. B. Katzisp's house was also destroyed, and the family were likewise saved by taking refuge in the cellar.

Corn and wheat were taken out of the ground. A few hail stones fell. One that was picked up measured thirteen inches in circumference.

No lives were lost nor was any one hurt. The only thing that saved destruction was that no building was in its track. Large quantities of machinery were destroyed, also timber.

A DARING TRAIN ROBBERY.

A Single Thief Collects the Cash of a Number of Passengers.

CHICAGO, May 29.—A special to the Chicago Times from Ellis Junction, Wis., says: Shortly after the train on the Milwaukee & Northern railroad pulled out of Beaver to-night a man walked through the rear coach to the rear door, and, drawing a revolver, compelled the brakeman to give up all the money he had in his pocket. He then went through all the passengers in the car in the same manner, making each walk ahead as he relieved him of his cash, until he reached the baggage car. When he had finished his raid he leaped from the train in the dark just as it was pulling into this station.

The robber must have secured three or four hundred dollars and one or two gold watches.

UNITED PRESBYTERIANS.

The General Assembly in Session at Springfield, Ohio

SPRINGFIELD, O., May 29.—The United Presbyterian general assembly in session here has again taken action on the subject of the use of the organ and other musical instruments in church worship. Complaint on that subject is said to come from the representatives of about 6000 out of the 25,000 members of the church.

The judiciary committee to whom the complaint was referred brought in a report which was adopted. This is to the effect that it is inexpedient to change the rule adopted by the general assembly two years ago, which is that the use or exclusion of organs shall not be a bar to membership, but that each congregation shall determine its own course in this regard. No disruption is apprehended from his action.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT

Three Men Fatally and a Number Seriously Injured at a Barn Raising

AKRON, O., May 29.—At Loyal Oak, in this county, to-day, while a number of farmers were assisting Jacob Baestler in a barn raising, one of the heavy bents fell upon a score of the workers. Frank E. Rich, Jacob Kurtz and Milton Baestler were terribly crushed and will die. William, Charles and Joseph Bauer received serious internal injuries, and a dozen others were badly cut and bruised, several receiving broken limbs. A house full of women who were preparing dinner for the workers, rushed out, and on seeing the blood flowing from the wounds of their husbands several fainted away. A wild scene ensuing.

A MORMON EXCITEMENT

Families Disrupted and Young Women Induced to Leave Home

TUSCOLA, Ill., May 29.—A party of male and female Mormon missionaries is creating great excitement in this vicinity. They have broken up families, separated husbands and wives and induced several young ladies to [illegible] hither. Last night one of the preachers was knocked down with a stone. [illegible] Davis [illegible] his two daughters [illegible] church [illegible] night, and this morning Davis soundly thrashed another preacher on the street.

PACIFIC MAIL STEAMSHIP COMPANY

The Directors Re-Elected at the Annual Meeting in New York

NEW YORK, May 29.—At the annual meeting of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company held to-day the following were re-elected directors: Jay Gould, Sidney Dillon, Russell Sage, C. P. Huntington, Henry Hart, William Rims, Edward Lauterbach, Harvey Kennedy and George J. Gould.

The net earnings of the company for the year amounted to $1[illegible],836.

THE BISHOP INQUEST

The Coroner's Jury Find That the Doctors Acted in Good Faith

NEW YORK, May 29.—The coroner's jury in the Bishop case to-day found that the cause of death was coma, and that the doctors acted in good faith, although hastily. The doctors were [illegible] discharged.

The most efficacious stimulant to excite the appetite is Angostura Bitters, the genuine of Dr. J. G. B. Siegert & Sons. At your druggists.

THE CRONIN MYSTERY.

Statements of the Morning Denied in the Afternoon.

THE POLICE ARE VERY RETICENT

The Grand Jury To Be Changed for One Containing Fewer Irishmen—McGeehan Thinks the Right Clue Has Not Been Found.

CHICAGO, May 29.—Several important links in the chain of evidence connecting the circumstances surrounding Dr. Cronin's death, were brought before the grand jury yesterday.

Milkman Mertes testified that shortly after he saw a man resembling Cronin go up the steps of the cottage, he heard sounds like pounding and crunching.

Young Carlson, whose parents own the blood-stained cottage, learned from a Swedish truckman who brought the furniture to the cottage, that it came from rooms at 1[illegible] Clark street, opposite Cronin's office. A description of a man who bought this furniture and took it to 117 Clark street is now in the hands of the police. Young Mrs. Carlson gave a description of the man who hired the cottage.

CORRESPONDENT LONG'S STORY.

The attorney sent to Toronto by Dr. Cronin's friends to see C. S. Long, the newspaper correspondent who wrote fictitious interviews with the doctor, has returned. Long was laboring under a great nervous strain, but could not be brought to confess, in spite of the fact that Cronin was dead, that the alleged interviews were not genuine.

While the attorney was in Toronto he met "Billy" Starkey, a Chicago attorney, who left the city to escape going to the penitentiary for jury bribing. He found upon investigation, that Starkey and Long, who were professional shorthand writers in Chicago six or seven years ago, were on terms of friendly intimacy, and that about the time the fictitious dispatches were wired to Chicago they were in daily consultation. From this then is deduced the conclusion that Starkey had a hand in concocting the dispatches. He knew Dr. Cronin as well as Long, if not better, for he was engaged in an effort made to compel Cronin to make a certain statement before a justice of the peace.

NOT THE SMITH HE MEANT.

CHICAGO, May 29.—The intimation in several of the morning papers that Willard J. Smith may possibly know something more of the Cronin case than has yet been suspected brought that gentleman into this city from Riverside. He went before Chief Hubbard and, after again denying any complicity in the murder of Cronin, at the suggestion of the chief visited the jail, and Detective Coughlin was brought from his cell.

Coughlin, when asked if this was the Smith that he meant when he stated that he had ordered a buggy for Tom Smith, of Hancock, Mich., declared that he was not. This seemed to settle the matter in the chief's mind.

It is understood that the police are not satisfied that Smith has no knowledge of the case, and still regard him with some suspicion. It is understood that he is under surveillance.

NO MORE STARTLING DEVELOPMENTS

Woodruff Says He Has Talked Too Much Already.

CHICAGO, May 29.—There have been no new developments in the Cronin case to-day of a startling nature. The authorities say that the report of the proceedings before the grand jury as printed in the morning papers, and a portion of which was used in these dispatches, was greatly exaggerated. They claim that there was no such testimony as that accredited to Carlson, and that nothing particularly new was adduced before the jury.

Capiases in accordance with the indictments were served on three persons to-day.

Woodruff, when seen by the reporters, refused to talk further about his confession, saying that he had said too much already.

Coughlin would have nothing at all to say, either to the reporters, or to the chief of police, when the latter visited him.

The coroner's jury assembled this morning, but after consulting with the state's attorney, the coroner decided to postpone the inquest further until next Tuesday. It is understood that it was the desire of the authorities that this be done for fear that some testimony might come out before the public inquest which would retard the public work.

Chief Hubbard, when seen by a reporter to-night, said that there was nothing new to be said; that they were busy working on several clews, but that no fresh arrests were contemplated.

DOUBTS ABOUT THE GRAND JURY.

It is Composed of Too Many Irishmen to Suit the Authorities

CHICAGO, May 29.—It is stated to-night upon apparently good authority that the present grand jury will not be asked again to give the Cronin case any further consideration. The serious character of this announcement is best appreciated when it is remembered that a considerable number of the members of the present grand jury are Irishmen or of Irish descent.

While State's Attorney Longenecker is as voiceless as a sphinx as to the reason for declining to continue the investigation under the present jury, those high in authority do not deny that the question of nationality has much to do with his decision.

This evening Byron L. Smith, receiver of the defunct Traders' bank, in which it is said some of the funds which Cronin had mysteriously referred to in his pamphlet regarding the alleged stealings were deposited, was closeted with Chief Hubbard for an hour or more. This would indicate that the authorities have widened the scope of their inquiry beyond the responsibility of the perpetrators of the murder and are acting on the innuendoes of the doctor's [illegible] talking.

The police are busy all day searching every conceivable spot in the vicinity of the Carlson cottage and the place where the body was found in the endeavor to find some trace of Cronin's clothing and the case of medical instruments of which no trace has been found. The underclothing found by the Widow Hamburgher's children, proves not to be that of the dead man.

WOODRUFF'S STEP FATHER

He Declares the Boy to Have Been Wild and Wayward, but a Great Coward.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 29.—The Chronicle has secured an interview with Harry Black, the step-father of Frank J. Black, alias Woodruff, indicted in Chicago Tuesday, for the murder of Dr. Cronin.

The step-father says: "Frank has always been a wild, wayward boy, his many escapades making his mother prematurely old. She is now in bed on account of the disclosures against him during the past few days. Frank J. Black is a good name, but it is not his true name."

Continuing, Black said: "I have been sending Frank between $200 and $300 a year to help to pay his personal expenses. April 1 I received a letter from him from Chicago saying that he was coming to San Francisco. Then I received a short letter from him written on a bill head of D. F. Dean's livery stable, 406 Webster avenue. It was from this stable that he secured the horse and wagon on the night of Cronin's murder. After he was arrested a few days since I received a letter from him in which he stated that he was in trouble. Last week I received a bill for $25 for the damage done the horse and buggy on the night of Cronin's murder. I am positive that Frank had nothing to do with the murder. He was too big a coward."

THE FORGER WHITE

It Now Develops That He Operated Extensively at Helena

HELENA Mont, May 29—J C White the man who was indicted for forgery at Seattle on Monday, played his tricks with an adroitness and shrewdness that stamps him as a man of experience in the business. He called at Clark & Larabie's bank introduced himself as J C White, and presented a draft on the Commercial National bank of Portland for $1500 This was cashed When another draft for $2500 was presented Cashier Hesler refused to cash it without further identification. White then bought two pieces of exchange on the Commercial National bank of Portland for $150 and $25, and bowed himself out of the bank

Nothing was heard of the transaction until Saturday last, when Clark & Larabie received a telegram from the First National bank at Seattle, making inquiry if a draft in favor of J C White for $2500 was genuine Clark & Larabie replied that the draft was drawn for only $25. White had "raised" the draft two ciphers on the right side

Messrs Johnston of Clark & Larabie and McCracken of the First National, which was also victimized by White started for Seattle yesterday, but returned and will be called there to give testimony on White's trial.

A ROAD FOR SEATTLE.

Connection With the Canadian Pacific Assured.

THE WORK TO BE RAPIDLY DONE

It Is Thought That Trains Will Be Running Into Seattle by the Holidays—The Capital Is Waiting.

SEATTLE May 29—A meeting of stockholders of the Seattle & Eastern Construction Company was held in this city to day, and the capital stock was raised from $1,000 000 to $3,000 000 Four-fifths of the stock was represented, and the action was taken by a unanimous vote.

This increase of capital stock means finally and without doubt the construction of a northern branch of the Seattle, Lake Shore & Eastern railroad from Seattle to a connection with the Canadian Pacific at Mission

When the building of the line was finally determined on it was decided that the money should be entirely raised before the work was begun The Seattle & Eastern Construction Company has the contract for construction of all the lines of the Lake Shore railroad and the method adopted was an increase of the capital stock of the construction company which takes for its remuneration first mortgage bonds of the railroad company The money being assured and the stock subscribed these mortgage bonds will not in turn have to be negotiated by the construction company

Surveying parties are now in the field The line is surveyed already north to the Skagit river, and the survey to the line is expected to be finished from that point to the boundary in two months. Grading and construction forces will start out from Seattle about June 15 and will work south from the boundary, and from seven miles north of Snohomish, to which point the road is now completed

The road is expected to be finished by November 15, and trains will be running from Seattle to Winnipeg and thence over the Manitoba road to Minneapolis by the holidays

Traffic arrangements between the Canadian Pacific and the Lake Shore were signed some time since The additional two millions of stock to the construction company was signed by Seattle and New York parties and by the original stock holders

BAKER CITY

Progress of Development in the Mines Tributary to this Mining Town

BAKER CITY May 29—From C M Donaldson manager of the Luria and Excelsior at Cracker Creek, it is learned that the grading for their mill is being pushed to the fullest extent About eighty men are employed in grading and road work.

The mill when completed will cover an area of 27,000 square feet, being 150x178 feet square

Langill & Co. have the lumber contract and will commence delivering as soon as the road is finished from Sumpter to Cracker City

The Monumental Mining Company under the able management of J R. Bowick, superintendent will soon rank as one of the best dividend paying mines in the state This company are now employing fifty men and the addition of ten more stamps to their mills and hoisting works of the latest improved pattern, will give them ample crushing capacity

Rand drills will also be added and their twenty stamp will be kept busy from the "first turning of a wheel

Baker's prosperity is not attributable to her mining resources alone, as this city is the supply point for a vast area of territory Should a railroad be built to Cracker City, opening up the great mining and lumber belt of that section, Baker City will be greatly benefited thereby

Teams are loaded daily for the different mining and lumber camps, and the sturdy granger with his family arrives in town on Saturday morn before half of our drowsy city people are out of bed, and by 2 o clock P M Main street presents a busy appearance, reminding one of First street, Portland, on Saturday afternoons.

Another Street-Car Fatality—San Francisco Market Review—Personal and General Notes—Etc

SAN FRANCISCO May 29—At the commencement exercises of Mills college to day, diplomas were presented to a class of ten young ladies among whom was Miss Winifred Watson daughter of Ex-Judge Finley B Watson, of Portland Miss Watson read an essay in verse, entitled "In His Name"

The following are extracts

A lame man sat at the beautiful gate
And begged for alms of the passers by,
No charm for him had the temple's grace,
Or the graven gates or the deep blue sky

On every side was the hurrying crowd
Unseen was the cripple crouching there,
And faint with hunger, and tired and worn
His sad heart ached in its mute despair

But two from the crowd have stepped aside,
Have viewed in sadness the careworn face
The helpless limbs, and the outstretched hand,
And the pleading eyes, with their suffering trace

And one of them took the trembling hand
And said as he raised him to his feet
"Though silver and gold I have none to give,
I come in behalf of my master sweet,

"To feed the hungry to clothe the poor,
To cure the sick and the blind and lame,
And such as I have unto thee I give
Behold thou art healed, rise and walk in His name"

The last stanzas read as follows

And when some day these at the beautiful gate
Shall seek for admittance to lands pure and bright
It will be "In His name" that they seek to be heard,
And in that dear name stand approved in His sight

And all their life work in the light of His love,
Shall shine out as perfect, if true be their aim,
From the loftiest labor that honor can praise
To the cup of cold water bestowed "In His name"

Buckley's Lambs Trembling at the Prospect of His Return From Victoria.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 29—Ex-Senator Dick Creighton who fled from this city in October 1887 while out on a $10 000 bond after having been convicted of jury bribing, is in Victoria, B C, now

He is said to be enjoying himself in a quiet manner and is well supplied with funds, sent him by those who are interested in preventing him from returning here

He was in Sydney, Australia, for a long time, and left there on the last trip of the steamer Alameda. He stopped over at Honolulu, and then took passage on the Forest Queen, bound for Nanaimo From Nanaimo he went to Victoria, and it is said that he intends returning here, as he is tired of being away from home and family

Chief of Police Crowley said to-day that he would not be surprised if the fugitive returned for he had been informed months ago that such was his intention

Creighton is safe as long as he remains in Victoria, as he cannot be extradited Those of his old friends here who are much interested in keeping him away are not a little alarmed about Creighton's recent erratic and threatening movements

Their main fear seems to be that the exile may return, and in exchange for executive clemency divulge not only his principals in the crime of which he was convicted but many others that have as yet not reached the courts, and many of whom have never been brought to light, or even hinted at Creighton could cause many of the lambs to tremble at the thought of his turning state's witness.

In this connection, it is said that one of the Bush street satellites went over to Honolulu to see Dick and to implore him "not to return and blow" Another will probably be sent to Victoria.

ANOTHER STREET CAR FATALITY.

A Woman Run Over and Killed by a San Francisco Dummy

SAN FRANCISCO May 29—Mrs. Kramer, living near the Odd Fellows' cemetery, was run over and killed this morning on Point Lobos avenue by the steam train running on the Geary street extension The body was badly mangled.

Just before the accident she went out for the purpose of getting provisions at the store opposite. The youngest child, aged 8 months, she carried in her arms. The others, 5 and 8 years old, ran along at her side the younger having hold of her unoccupied hand After making her purchases she set out for home She had gotten about half way there when the accident occurred.

An eye-witness says "I was sitting in my front room trimming a hat when I noticed one of Mrs. Kramer's children run across the track. The train was coming down the track at the time, but I don't think the woman saw it. She had her back to the dummy. Just as she stepped on the track I saw the train strike her I screamed, and my mother ran out to where the woman was lying The child was underneath its mother and unharmed We found that the wheels had passed over both legs below the knees, mangling them terribly. The injured woman was removed to her home, and her husband, who was at work on Pacific street, summoned. She died just about the time he arrived The husband was crazed with grief, and several times attempted to throw himself before the approaching trains, but was restrained by his friends.

A GRAND GALA DAY.

Extravagant Enjoyment of Gray's Harbor People.

AN ACCIDENT OF EVIL OMEN

Cautious Mammas and Obedient Daughters Prevent a Prolongation of the Pleasure—Financial Success of the Affair

MONTESANO, May 26—This was a gala day here As the boom caused by active operations having begun on the Puget Sound & Gray's Harbor railroad increases, the people feel the more like participating in extravagant enjoyment. The Montesano band chartered the new steamer for an excursion down the harbor and to the beach

The beautiful vessel steamed up to the wharf from Cosmopolis about 8 o'clock this clear and splendid Sunday morning and over 100 people men, women and children joyfully hurried aboard for the day's pleasure When all were on board the whistle blew, the band played, the people cheered, and as the brave engineer put on the steam a skillful pilot took the wheel and the prow of the beautiful Montesano plowed proudly through the waves bearing its precious freight

On rounding the sharp curve of the Chehalis river the steamer struck a snag, which the very low tide had brought near the surface As the boat careened young Peel plunged overboard, and the alarm caused by the accident appeared an evil omen But the young man fairly rivaled the seal as a swimmer He called to the passengers to quiet their fears, and soon he was hauled in and all was joy again

The steamer landed at Aberdeen and Hoquiam each of which swelled the gay party until about 250 people were mingled in happy discourse on the decks or in the cabins. From Hoquiam the party were taken down the harbor until the breakers were in sight and then a turn to the south was made and the party was landed for a stroll on the beautiful grounds at the mouth of the St Johns river

It was intended to take the party to the beach near the entrance or mouth of the harbor but the lateness of the hour prevented, as eight o clock was the time given by the mammas for the return of many fair ones. The steamer returned on time and a better satisfied party of excursionists is rarely seen The band made a hundred dollars, and the splendid steamer behaved so finely that she is taken into the best confidence of our people

Captain Scream one of the most competent and gentlemanly "old salts" on the waves has command of the Montesano, and his care for the safety and comfort of the passengers, his politeness and patience in answering the seven million questions have made him a great favorite with our pleasure seeking people Purser W M Saures also added much to his popularity with the people of Montesano. The movement to the harbor is steadily increasing, and with it the confidence of property owners grow bright.

AMERICAN SUPREMACY

Philadelphia Press.

Less than thirty years ago all geographies in describing the nations of the earth conceded that Great Britain was the richest, most populous and most powerful among them all Doubtless every American boy in reciting the passage made a mental reservation in favor of his own country He felt confident that American superiority would assert itself in a century at least and that his great grandchildren would see the same claim made for the United States that he had to concede to Great Britain

That generation of school boys have only become well settled in their business or profession and yet one of the leading organs of English public opinion is already admitting that the palm of supremacy is passing from Great Britain to America. The extract from the London Spectator published in the Sunday Press, saying that the United States is "becoming the greatest nation in the world," and that the only way in which a successful attack could be made on the great republic would be by a confederation of all the European powers, is a candid and truthful admission of the real situation. The further statement that we are exercising a practical protectorate over the Western Hemisphere is an acknowledgment of the manifest destiny doctrine so dear to every American heart.

It was to avert this result that made a great majority of English statesmen sympathizers with the Southern Confederacy during the War of the Rebellion. They rightly argued that the steady march of the United States to the primacy among nations could not be checked unless it was divided into two or more powers. John Bright, in a speech made in 1861, related how a member of parliament came to him when the news of the secession of the Southern states reached England and expressed his satisfaction with the disruption of the American Republic, adding: "Why, if no separation had occurred, they would have bullied all Europe in fifty years." George Bancroft touched on the same point in his memorial oration of Abraham Lincoln, when he described the British minister at Washington as hastening, after the fall of Fort Sumpter, to send advices to his home government that "the great republic was no more, and that all that is now needed is a tombstone in the graveyard of nations to indicate the day of its birth and the day of its death"

As Americans look back to that crisis from their present vantage ground they can perhaps feel a little more charity for the attitude England and English statesmen assumed then It was only human nature for them to look with jealousy on the only nation the growth of which in power and riches was likely to threaten future British supremacy. If the rival could be removed through its own folly in quarrelling and fighting so much the better for England. That hope has passed, however, and English newspapers are ready to acknowledge that the day of American supremacy is at hand. If it is to be a primacy of material wealth and achievements alone it would be better for the world if it had never been gained, but if it is to be marked by an advancement in all that makes mankind nobler and better, more refined and cultivated then future generations will rejoice that the close of the nineteenth century saw the sovereignty among nations transferred from Great Britian to the United States"

A "MARINE PICNIC."

Premier MacDonald's Opinion of the Behring Sea Cruisers.

THE IDEA OF WAR RIDICULED

The United States is Clearly in the Wrong, and the Matter Will Probably Be Settled by Arbitration

VICTORIA B C May 29—The Victoria Colonist's Ottawa correspondent had an interview with Sir John MacDonald, the Dominion premier to day on the Behring sea matter Sir John pooh poohed the idea of war over the Behring sea matter He said

"The British government has no hostile intentions nor I am satisfied has the American government These ships are going for a cruise but it will only be a sort of marine picnic and has no more significance than if the fleet went to Valparaiso"

"Do you know anything of promises of protection to Canadian fishing vessels? asked the Colonist correspondent

"Nothing whatever" replied Sir John

"Could such promises have been made without your knowledge?"

"Certainly they could, but it would be very unlikely"

"Suppose the Canadian fishing vessels are molested?"

"It is not at all likely they will be molested outside of the three mile limit" said the premier

"But the Canadian schooners have been molested before and are now under seizure"

"Yes" the premier admitted, "Canadian schooners have been molested and I think it very mean that they have been The fact is the United States government knows that it is an absurd pretension about Behring sea being a mare clausum that can not be maintained

"Ought not the imperial government demand redress for these seizures?"

"Lord Salisbury has been doing nothing but demanding redress ever since the Canadian government made representations to the home government, and the imperial government took immediate action of course, if the United States government refuses to respect the law of nations, there are only three courses open for us we must have war, back down, or have arbitration My own opinion is that if the United States government does not acknowledge themselves in the wrong the matter will be referred to arbitration I know what the opinion of the Cleveland government was, and the law of nations has not altered since the changes

NO ALARM AT WASHINGTON

The News of the Ordering of the British Fleet to Behring Sea Quietly Received

WASHINGTON, May 29—Nobody at the state and navy departments expressed alarm at the news coming from Victoria, B C that the British North Pacific squadron had been ordered to Behring sea

Commodore Walker, in charge of the detail office at the navy department, says that none of our naval vessels have been ordered to Alaska except the Thetis which was assigned to that station some time ago and has been regularly engaged in patrolling the Alaskan coast for several summers past He says that he does not think Great Britain and the United States will make war about the seal fisheries.

IT WAS A FALSE REPORT

The Revenue Cutter Bear Will Not Be Provided With New Guns.

Lumber Scares at Helena.

HELENA Mont, May 29—There is a movement on foot in Helena to form a syndicate of lumber dealers, who propose to make an advance in prices The large number of buildings being put up, mostly frame, is the cause of it. The supply is not equal to the demand, and yet lumber is cheaper than it was last year owing to the competition A meeting was held last night to form a combination, but the leading firm would not enter into any agreement, and this will cause a hitch which will probably paralyze the movement The attempt to carry out such a plan has been made several times, but some dealer has always broken faith, and the kicking firm has no confidence in this effort.

A Raid on the Strikers.

BERLIN, May 29—The police raided the houses of the leaders of the miners' strike at Dortmund to-day, and seized a number of letters and a considerable amount of money. The men whose homes are invaded are accused of being socialist agitators.

The editor of the Westphalia People's Gazette was arrested on the charge of instigating the strike in the mining regions.

A CALIFORNIA SENSATION.

[Petaluma Courier]

It is reported that the sales of the California remedy, Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla, have grown within a few months till they are now really sensational. The way the fame of this production has spread is simply marvelous. Six months ago it was unknown. To-day it is all over the country. It is authoritatively stated that they have been actually giving it away in San Francisco to people afflicted with dyspepsia, sick headaches, indigestion and liver troubles, not to be paid for unless it cured. Such practical tests are so startlingly convincing as to be almost sensational. It is stated that two of the active principles of the new remedy belong to the vegetable kingdom of California and are so well known to us all under common names that it would surprise us if told them. But we are not surprised at anything Californian, and this recent discovery of the new medicinal virtues of its vegetable kingdom is but another instance of the astonishing possibilities of a soil and climate like ours.

A MATTER OF CHOICE.

Dana, of the New York Sun, was asked whether port wine did not bring on the gout. He replied that he thought it did, but that the man who would not prefer to suffer a few twinges of the gout rather than give up his port wine wasn't a man after his heart.

Many things like this are a matter of choice, and we really believe that we are justified in saying that those who will not, in the face of the testimony which we can offer, try ATHLOPHOROS when they have Neuralgia or Rheumatism, really choose to keep the rheumatism rather than alter their opinions.

HAPPENINGS IN COURT.

The Case of James Palache Against the O. R. & N. Company.

R. M. Schneider Partially Confesses Committing the Dastardly Crime With Which He Is Charged—Other Judicial News.

The case of James Palache vs. the O. R. & N. Co. came up in the United States circuit court yesterday, on a motion to strike out the complaint because it contained more than one cause of action not separately stated, and to make the complaint more definite and certain as to the time when the detention for which the damages are claimed accrued, and also to strike out the allegation concerning the value of the use of the premises as irrelevant.

The court in deciding the matter said: "The action to recover possession of real property—the code action of ejectment—is not an action to recover damages for withholding property, but a cause of action for damages for withholding the property may be joined with an action to recover possession of the same; but in such case it must be stated separately and contain all the facts necessary to entitle the party to recover such damages within itself, or, by reference to the court, for the possession of the property.

The damages which a party is entitled to recover for the withholding of possession of real property are equivalent in amount to the value of the use and occupation or the rents and profits of the property during that period, but a claim for damages for waste of the property committed or permitted during such time, is another and distinct cause of action and must be separately stated from that for rents and profits, and it is questionable whether, under the Oregon code of civil procedure, it can be joined with a claim to recover possession of real property or the rents and profits thereof.

The statement of a cause of action for recovering damages for withholding real property should show within what time and for what length of time the withholding took place, so that it may appear that the claim is not in whole or in part barred by the statute of limitations.

A conveyance of real property does not carry with or assign to the grantee therein any claim or right of action which the grantor may have against a third person for damages for injury to such property or for withholding possession of the same prior to said conveyance.

The statement of a cause of action by an assignee of a claim for damages for withholding possession of real property, or for injury thereto must be separately stated from one which the plaintiff claims to be in his own right, and must contain the fact of his assignment, and in the United States court must show that the assignor could have maintained an action himself on such claims, for otherwise the court would have no jurisdiction.

TO TAKE THE TESTIMONY.

In the United States circuit court yesterday Judge Deady, on petition of The Dalles Military Road Company, ordered a commission to be issued to L. S. B. Sawyer, of San Francisco, to take the testimony of O. S. Savage, to be used in a suit soon to be brought against The Dalles Military Road Company by the United States. Mr. Savage is sick in San Francisco with but little hope of his recovery, and as congress has passed a law ordering that a suit be brought against The Dalles, Cascades and Eugene City Military Wagon Road Companies to forfeit their land grants, it is desired to have the testimony of Mr. Savage to use in the trial of the case against The Dalles Company when it comes up.

Governor Woods certified to the completion of two of these roads and Governor Grover to the completion of the other and as the roads, it is claimed, were never built according to agreement, the government intends to investigate the causes which led to these certificates being issued. The innocent purchasers of the grants considered the certificates gave them a clear title, but the government proposes to go behind the returning boards, as it were and inquire into the why and wherefore of the certificates being issued.

RATHER NOVEL INCORPORATION.

Articles of incorporation were filed with the county clerk yesterday by Lowe Ban Tin, Fong Man Won, Lai Won Chu, Pon Wah Shong, Gong Hing and You Kai Chen, incorporating a benevolent society. The society is to be known as the Sam Yup Company. The society's object is to be benevolent and charitable among the Chinese of Portland, to-wit: To find employment for the unemployed, to assist the sick and indigent, and, when necessary, to send them to China and to do any and all acts of charity which the condition of its members may call forth. The value of the society's property and money at the time of its incorporation is $50, and its source of revenue and income is to be assessments among its members.

These are the first papers of the kind ever filed in this city. The incorporators are all well versed in the English language, not one of them being unable to write out his own name with pen and ink.

JUDGMENT REVERSED.

The case of Charles Schmidt vs. Charles Vivian was tried in department No. 1, of the state circuit court yesterday morning.

It appears that some months ago Schmidt sold out a business at 269 Front street to Vivian. Afterwards a dispute arose as to who was entitled to possession of a wagon pole and a cover valued at $50 Vivian claiming that it was included in the sale and Schmidt that it was not. The latter brought suit for its recovery in Justice Randall's court, Albina and got judgment. Vivian appealed the case. The jury found in his favor after a short deliberation.

WANTED FOR HORSE STEALING.

It is learned that Edward Thurman, the young man of East Portland, arrested at La Camas a few weeks since, for embezzling $78 from George Mercer, a wood dealer, for whom he drove a wagon, is wanted at Dallas for stealing a horse there two years ago. Thurman was arrested at the time, but "jumped" his bail which was $400. The embezzlement case comes up before the grand jury for investigation in a day or two. Thurman seems to be a good hand at "skipping," for after he robbed Mercer, he went to Prineville and on being pursued doubled on his track and came back to La Camas, where he was taken.

JUDGE STEARNS LENIENT.

Harry Miller and Charles Robb, the boys who stole $4 90 from a till in the Standard theater on the night of April 5, after the house had been closed, were leniently dealt with by Judge Stearns yesterday. Upon the motion of District Attorney McGinn, the indictment against Miller was dismissed, and Robb sentenced to one year's confinement in the penitentiary, after which he was turned over to the Boys' and Girls' Aid Society.

Mr. Powers will endeavor to find a suitable place for Robb and give him a chance to make amends for his past deeds.

SCHNEIDER'S ADMISSIONS.

R. M. Schneider, the wretch charged with outraging a 10-year-old daughter of Rev. Dr. Diedrick, and who is now awaiting trial, has made certain very damaging admissions which will go hard with him when he goes to trial. He has not actually admitted having committed the crime with which he is charged, but might just as well have, for all it will avail him before Judge Stearns. The admissions were made to Stephen Gregory and parties connected with the county jail.

M'REYNOLDS FINED $20.

About three weeks ago Julius Carlson and S. McReynolds had a fight in a barn on S, between Fourteenth and Fifteenth streets, in which the former was worsted. He was arrested at the time, but McReynolds, for whom a warrant was issued, could not be found until a day or so since, when he was arrested. The defendant tried his best to make Judge Tanner believe that he was innocent of the charge of assault and battery, but was unsuccessful, it seems, for he was fined $20.

CRIMINALS ARRAIGNED.

Lawrence Monroe, indicted for an assault to kill Edward Clayton, the ex-convict; R. M. Schneider, indicted for a criminal assault on Lillie Diedrick, and John Pickerel, indicted for lewd cohabitation with Alice Thorn, a 16-year old girl who was enticed from her home in the interior to this city, were arraigned in the criminal court yesterday morning and given until to-morrow to plead.

Owing to the absence of several important witnesses, the case of Geo. T. Reid, proprietor of the Caledonia saloon, charged with stealing $6 worth of planks from J. J. Ackley, was continued by Justice Phelan yesterday until to-morrow afternoon.

THE CASE OF ANNA SMEAD.

The grand jury were engaged yesterday examining into the case of Anna Smead, charged with stealing $300 from — Van Cardo, proprietor of the Riverside hotel, East Portland, and who afterwards skipped to Salem, but arrived at no conclusion.

NEW CITIZENS.

Alois Kramer, Henry Moeik and Albert Felsman, subjects to the king of Prussia, declared their intentions to become American citizens yesterday.

LICENSED TO MARRY.

A marriage license was granted to F. B. Murphy and Ottillie Skibbe by Deputy County Clerk Powell yesterday.

BOOK DONATIONS TO CHEMAWA.

A Few Suggestions to Those Who May Feel Disposed to Aid in This Work of Gentle Charity.

In connection with a circular sent through the city by friends of the Indian school at Chemawa at a recent date, the following letter from General W. H. Beadle, superintendent, may assist all who are disposed to aid in this gentle charity, in the selection of books and other matter for the library of the school:

CHEMAWA, Or., May 17, 1889.

Rev. T. E. Clapp, Portland, Or.—My Dear Sir: It may be said that there is practically no library suited to the needs of the majority of the students. The few books we have are too advanced, too difficult in subject and style for our readers. We need a library of from 100 to 300 volumes, the latter number being better, of course, comprising easy stories, biographies and travels. The books should have largely a narrative and descriptive character, with moral teaching, to interest and instruct our young people.

Some books of the simplest popular scientific nature would be useful. Many books may be found in publications for Sunday schools that would be well adapted to our use. To understand better the need it may be said that our pupils are wholly in English studies from the primary to the second grammar grade. Very few are more advanced and none beyond the third grammar. Even in these grades our course is not so full nor the English so advanced as in the best public schools. There are only individual exceptions.

Miss Newton, the missionary to China, was recently a visitor, and on leaving gave us, unsolicited, $5 for our library; and, requesting her choice of books to be bought with it, we selected the "Pansy Books," and I think them a happy choice. Some who have read them may by comparison select others. "Tanglewood Tales" and "Twice Told Stories," by Hawthorne are good. Hans Christian Andersen's "Wonder Book," Kingsley's "Water Babies," and similar ones are about as advanced as our readers will enjoy. These are, of course, rather literary in style, and plainer tales as well as easier books are desirable for younger persons. I am especially desirous that the religious and moral character of all the books should be excellent and that in a considerable part it should be prominent. A few historic tales, like Coffin's "Boys of '76," "Building of a Nation" and "Boys of '61" would inspire patriotism and acquaint the readers with our institutions and their value.

Let me say that a few such books will be most acceptable. There are young people here now that ought to be reading them. Stories of domestic life and lessons of struggle and success from small beginnings are manifestly indicated. They cannot draw these lessons philosophically from Smith's self-help and similar works. They should come in the life of a person whose struggles they follow sympathetically and understandingly. In short, they are all children, but lack the intelligent homes and early training of white boys and girls.

Your most kind offer to help is accepted with sincere thanks. Our moral work is greater not less than the industrial. So, I think, your good people will from this letter see our needs. Yours most sincerely, W. H. BEADLE, Supt.

KENO NOTES.

Where the Golden Millions Roll—A Road in Need of Repair—Mercantile Prevaricators.

KENO, Or., May 28.

San Francisco has learned that coin generally rolls over the shortest and smoothest roads it can find. She has been catching trade from a neighboring trade center, and the golden millions that have rolled into her coffers from Lake and Klamath would make an interesting "flush-up" for the commercial spectacles of Portland. It would convince any intelligent trader of the fact that coin seeks to "get there" in the least possible time and with the least possible friction. It would throw a strong light on the wretched condition of one road leading from Oregon's trade center to Oregon's trade circumference.

The Keno-Ashland stage line must be abandoned. It has paid too much money for horseshoes, wagon tires, harness repairs and other expenses, incidental to rough-road experience, and it has despaired of securing much passenger and freight business on a road over which both passengers and freight are so distressingly jolted together that the passenger hardly knows whether he is a passenger or an old satchel, or whether that big trunk intends to settle on a homestead or on himself in the next round. It is not a business road.

Klamath county is willing to give Portland all the credit honestly due to her as a road repairer. That $60,000 donation for the improvement of the Presbyterian branch of the road to salvation is comforting to a few, and only a few, in this region. But the "resolve" of the Board of Trade to the effect that the Keno-Ashland road should be repaired, is no source of comfort to the teamsters who, in good faith, took their teams off the Montague road in the full belief that the Keno-Ashland road would be repaired very soon. If the resolve could be brought behind several stout picks and shovels on that road the new cheer that would creep into their present depression would echo far and wide. Until that resolve is brought behind picks and shovels the coin of Klamath county will roll steadily toward San Francisco. The Keno-Ashland will be either a business road or an untraveled road. It can, at a trifling expense, be made shorter and smoother than the Montague road, or it can, without expense, be let alone. It is like any other business transaction. You pay your money and you take your equivalent, or you pay nothing and take the same.

A few weeks ago several Portland drummers mounted an old wagon at Ashland and rode up to Keno dreadfully shaken up, weary, dreary and anxious to find sunshine for their overcast spirits. So they sought and found me. They basked in my presence and regaled me with fibs. "The Keno and Ashland road," they assured me, "is now in splendid condition and we wish that other drummers could be made aware of the fact. More would come this way and be happier." That item duly appeared in THE OREGONIAN, and another mercantile prevaricator, after reading it, jumped into another old wagon and reached Keno tired to death. In his bloom he fell a sacrifice to overmuch confidence in the veracity of his kind. He was so tired that the taxidermist who skinned and stuffed him could not make him stand or sit properly. A Yreka second-hand clothier bought him for $2 50 and stood him up in the store window. Encased in samples of second-hand underwear and a pair of blue woolen socks (good as new and warranted to wear well) he is still drumming, but he cannot tell a lie.

If the Keno-Ashland road were a highway over which trade could be brought to 'Frisco, that city would not only promptly repair it, but would supply the teamsters with wheel tires and horse shoes while the road was under pick and shovel. People here have found 'Frisco resolute and industrious in the matter of keeping smooth every northern road tributary to her commercial interests in sending smooth and lively drummers, and in advertising everywhere, and such a mercantile body would be among the last to allow thousands of dollars' worth of trade to split on a rock it could easily walk over with a few dollars' worth of iron shoes on its feet. 'Frisco would not allow many mornings and evenings to blush with shame at the nakedness of a road contributing cash to her coffers. That city sends stockbuyers here to buy our fine horses and beef cattle, than which no better or cheaper can be found in the Northwest. We have been breeding up industriously on the best grass in the world, and are overstocked, and 'Frisco finds it profitable, as Portland would, to patronize us. The Portland Board of Trade should immediately repair the road and send people down to see our traders and stockmen, as 'Frisco does. PETER, THE POET.

EAST SIDE NEWS FIELD.

The Close of the Public School in Holladay's Addition.

They Wouldn't Work—A Social Event—Where Is He?—Office Hours—The Political Cauldron—They Want Water.

The Holladay school closed its nine months' of study on the 24th with an entertainment in which nearly all the pupils participated, and in a manner both creditable to themselves and to their respective teachers, taking their parts in a way which indicated careful drilling. An entertainment of the character of the one given cannot be overestimated, as pupils derive an amount of culture and patriotic sentiment different from that obtained in ordinary school work.

The East Portland Glee Club rendered two fine selections in an excellent manner which were fully appreciated. The church in which the entertainment was given was decorated with flags and the national colors, this being done by the members of the G. A. R. of Portland, and conspicuous among the decorations were the faces of many of "our honored dead."

Miss Carrie Packard, principal, submits her report for the last month of the year which is as follows:

Whole number registered, 218; whole number days attendance, 4307½; whole number days absence, 222; number belonging, 177; cases of tardiness, but one for the month, which occurred in the fourth grade; per cent. daily attendance, 94. Miss Denton's room has the honor of the highest per cent. of attendance, it being 95 per cent. Cases corporal punishment, none; cases expulsion or suspension, none for the year; number neither absent nor tardy, 65, while quite a large number of pupils were perfect in attendance during the term of five months.

Monday following the close of school the pupils met at the school house to receive certificates of promotion, exchange tokens of love and good will, good byes, etc., after which they retired for a three months' vacation, that has been faithfully earned.

Of the number examined for promotion 90 per cent. were promoted to higher classes, which was very pleasing, and those who were not promoted have no cause for regret unless they have not put forth their best efforts during the year. It is an irreparable injury to pupils to be in a grade where the work is far beyond their comprehension, as they cannot advance, and are not preparing themselves, even for the class where they are, consequently ambition in that direction is altogether wrong for the child. Neither can all pupils master a subject in the same time, and to suppose they can is erroneous, therefore parents and guardians should feel satisfied with the progress, if the pupil has done all in his power and ability to do, and the pupil will resume work with renewed vigor, unless discouraged by being advanced beyond his comprehension.

WANT WATER.

The people south of Stephens slough are very anxious to secure city water, and are under the impression that the company intend to extend a water main as far south as Judge Woodward's. If the company extend a main large enough, there is no doubt but every one south of the slough will make connections at once. It was stated that the water company has offered to extend a four-inch main to Judge Woodward's place if the city will put in a fire hydrant in that neighborhood; If that would be any inducement it should be done at once.

SOCIAL EVENT.

Tuesday night members of the East Portland Glee Club were put into a large furniture wagon and taken out to the residence of Mr. Hosford, at Mount Tabor, where the time was spent in a very pleasant way until about 12 M. There was present a number of the neighbors, and the evening was enlivened by the melodious strains of song, in which the glee club took an important part. Ice cream and strawberries were served. The party came home enthusiastic over their experience.

WOULD NOT WORK.

The tramps in the city jail entered into a combination yesterday, and would not work on the streets. During the day the officers took turns marching them around with chains on their legs. Their fare will not consist of many delicacies as long as they are obstinate. They are all great brawny young men, to whom work should be a pleasure. It was plain to be seen that they did not appreciate the exercise of walking with chains on their legs.

HAWTHORNE LINE.

Grading and track-laying on the Hawthorne avenue line is being pushed right along. Track-laying was begun Tuesday at Fifth street, and therefore this work is progressing from both ends, and will meet in a short time. Those who are skeptical concerning this road should be convinced that it will be built. It is evident, also, that there will be developments in relation to this road in the near future that will cause a surprise.

POLITICAL.

Political matters are beginning to assume some definite shape. A number of candidates have been named for office. The hand of a well-known democratic manager trimming his sails to capture the city government, is already seen, but the republicans are on their guard this year. It is expected that the republicans will hold their primaries about the 7th of June.

EXCURSION.

The Sunday-school of the East Portland Baptist church will hold their annual picnic Saturday next, up the Columbia to Multnomah falls and the Cascades. The S. G. Reed leaves Ash street dock at 7 A. M. and the East Side from foot of J street at 7 15. Tickets, $1, children, 50 cents. All are invited.

THE SCHOOLS.

The schools will be closed to day, but the pupils will carry to the buildings flowers for decorative purposes early this morning. These flowers will be gathered up by the members of the Grand Army who will take them to the cemeteries.

KIRMESS! KIRMESS!!

This evening, beginning at 5 o'clock, East Portland, corner of Eleventh and T streets. Come and see the fun. Music, games, panoramas, ice cream, etc.

WHERE IS COFFMAN.

Since Coffman escaped from Policeman Howe Sunday night he has not been seen nor heard from. It is supposed that he is at home "sick."

SUMNER POST.

Members of this post will meet the procession from the West Side at Twentieth street to engage in decorating the graves.

THE POSTOFFICE.

The postoffice will be opened to-day between 5 and 6 P. M. Every one should govern himself, or herself, accordingly.

WATER SHUT OFF.

The water was shut off yesterday for a time as the water company was connecting up the new pump.

AN EXPLANATION WANTED.

Milwaukee Sentinel.

A number of journals in New York warmly attached to the person of Grover Cleveland and devoted champions of free trade have for months past been alleging that that state was carried by Harrison last fall by the corrupt use of money.

The journals in question also urgently supported the Saxton election bill, which proposed to introduce the Australian system of voting. They declared that under a law of that kind the purchase of votes would be impracticable. They claimed, and we think rightly, that it would be an immense step towards securing honest elections.

Now this bill to secure honest elections passed the New York legislature, and the significant feature of the vote on its passage was that every member who supported it was a republican and every member who voted against it was a democrat. Then the bill went to a democratic governor and he vetoed it, while there were enough democrats in the house to prevent its passage over the veto by a two-thirds vote.

If the republican party be the party which relies on carrying elections by the corrupt use of money, will some of our mugwump exchanges explain this strange incident of the passage of a bill by republican votes which would render vote-buying impracticable, against the unanimous opposition of the party which is alleged to be injured by vote-buying? Is it because the New York democrats want to keep an open market for their votes? That might explain their solid opposition to the bill, but it does not explain its solid support by the republicans if the charge be true that they profit by corruption at the elections.

DOCKS, STREAM AND OCEAN.

Two Gentlemen of Tillamook Have a Narrow Escape From Drowning—New Bar Tow Boat—Etc.

J. A. Thomas, of Tillamook, met with an adventure about a week ago that came very near winding up his useful career, says the Astoria Pioneer. In company with Fred Surrenger, he started out in a small skiff to catch a few fish near the bar. When they started away the wind and the waves were low, so they paid but little attention to the fact that the ebbing tide was carrying them out to sea. As they neared the bar, though, the sea became heavier, and soon got so rough that their frail craft was turned bottom side up, and with the two men clinging to it, went sweeping out to sea. They were fortunate enough to have life preservers, and this alone saved them, as the sea continually swept them away from the boat. About noon the A. B. Field, which was coming down the coast, keeping a sharp lookout for any of the boats which might have got away from the Alaskan, sighted the castaways and took them aboard in an exhausted condition.

The O. R. & N. Co. has had under consideration for some time past the advisability of building a new tow boat for service on the Columbia bar. It was at first thought advisable to repair the Donald's hull but it has now been decided to build a new hull and place within it the Donald's machinery, which is nearly as good as new and of sufficient power.

The Donald which is now in use, is 100 feet long and it is intended to build the new hull somewhat larger. The new tug will be 115 feet long, with a 22 foot beam and 12 foot depth of hold, and will draw about 11 feet of water. When completed, the new boat will be valued at about $70,000. It will cost, in all probability, $20,000 to build a hull such as the company intend. It is not known yet whether the hull will be constructed in this city or not, as bids for the work have not been called for yet.

The Canadian Pacific steamer Danube is due here this evening. Now that the above company run a tri-monthly steamer-service between Vancouver and China, it keeps the Danube, which is a connecting link between this city and the other steamers, very busy. She brings a full cargo at each trip.

The British bark Earl of Dunraven started down the river yesterday, in tow of the Willamette Chief. She has a full cargo of flour and was drawing over twenty feet of water.

The British bark Shalimar sailed from Astoria for Queenstown Tuesday, with 17,110 barrels of flour valued at $70,331.

The steamer S. G. Reed has been placed on the Cascade route.

FROM CENTRALIA.

New Civic Organizations—Several Fine Brick Buildings Now Being Put Up.

CENTRALIA, Lewis Co., May 28.

Mrs. Beall, who has been for some time in Ellensburgh, employed in the office of the Capitol, has returned to Centralia and is now busy on the News.

The Centralia guards (and this new organization in this lively burg) are doing well under their able Captain Underwood. The next thing on foot is a fire company, which is very much needed.

Mrs. Clara Colby addressed an audience in the opera house the other evening on the woman's suffrage question. Last evening Mrs. Gordon, the "lady lawyer," spoke in Crosby's hall to an attentive crowd on the same subject.

The musical citizens of Centralia organized a musical society the other evening. About fifteen were present, with the assurance there would be more at the next meeting. Mrs. Partridge was elected president and Mrs. J. A. Taylor treasurer. Centralia has some fine operatic talent.

The brick foundation for the public schools is already laid and lumber and other material on the ground. The plans and specifications for Grace seminary, which will be under the Baptist supervision, have arrived. Work has already commenced and it is expected to be ready by October 1. Brick is already on the ground for the First National bank, also for the brick block Mr. Packard is about to put up. Work on the new railroad is resumed, also on the railroad hotel which will be a very handsome building.

EUGENE NOTES.

EUGENE, May 28, 1889.

The fine weather causes farmers and fruit raisers to wear smiles.

Several new brick blocks have already been contracted for, and our city will most certainly mark another prosperous year.

S. G. Adair, station agent of the Southern Pacific in this city, is enjoying a month's vacation visiting friends and relatives in Ohio and Indiana.

Eugene now rejoices in a tall bell tower and a 1200-pound bell for special use in sounding fire alarms. We hope there may be but little use for it.

Hop growers report their crops as the best grown of any season of the recent past, owing to the early start and seasonable rains. The yield promises to exceed any former year.

The immigrants coming into the county recently are mostly locating on timbered lands in the Western portion. There are many good claims yet awaiting home seekers, but speculators are not invited.

The telephone company has its poles up and is now engaged in stringing wires. In a few weeks more the city will be supplied with a complete exchange system and connection made with several other towns in the county.

The annual commencement exercises at the State University begins by the delivery of the baccalaureate sermon on Sunday, June 16, and will be followed during the week by the regular exercises, there being a good class of graduates.

An exciting race for a purse of $500 was run last Saturday upon the track west of the city, by Kinrock Belle, owned by parties in this city, and Tom Benton, owned by parties from Prineville. Tom got away with the race in good style.

Extensive preparations are being made for the proper observance of Memorial day. We rejoice to see so many take an interest in the ceremonies, as honoring the loyal dead begets patriotism, upon which as a foundation must rest all the future glory of our country.

The principal evidence that Eugene is enjoying prosperity without a boom is that there has not been a real estate firm organized for a month, and some of the old ones who expected a wild craze and to ride to prosperity on the top wave are thinking seriously about winding up business.

An enthusiastic meeting was held at the court house last Saturday evening in the interest of some new manufacturing establishments. A starch factory, a shingle mill, and a large fruit dryer are among the enterprises to be located here at once. A small subsidy was asked for and a committee appointed to assist in raising it.

Cheap transportation continues to be the one important question which continually confronts the producers of this part of the valley. In the near future the feelings of our people will become so intense on this subject that competing lines will be induced to build to our city, and then there will be no part of the state better situated.

NEWBERG NOTES.

NEWBERG, Or., May 27.

Kruger's big hardware store is completed.

Nine new families have settled in Newberg in the past week.

W. F. Heacock, of Santa Clara, Cal., is building a fine residence north of the depot.

Greason, of Astoria, has purchased J. D. Carter's livery business, and is adding new stock to it.

Over 1000 people are now within the corporate limits of Newberg, and not a saloon in the city.

A great many families are moving from the old town to the new, which now represents the most business and greatest improvements.

We advertised in our last letter for a physician, and yesterday one came all the way from Mississippi, showing how far THE OREGONIAN's influence reaches.

The Sunday trains from Portland are filled with passengers. Last Sunday the beautiful park was crowded with Portlanders enjoying a day in the cool air. A fine trip for any one seeking an airing.

Their Characteristic Attitude.

San Francisco Alta.

A fine family of mound builders has just been dug up in Iowa. They were seven feet high and had their hands at their ears. In the remote and distant future, when the New York monument builders of this generation are dug out, they will not be so tall, and they will have their hands on their pocketbooks.

Politics in Arkansas.

Chicago News.

"I understand," said the stranger in Arkansas, "that this congressional district would show a republican majority if a full vote were polled."

"You have been misinformed, sir," replied the native, "or else you do not keep posted on current events. The republican majority which you speak of was buried two weeks ago with its boots on.

A Double Tragedy.

NEW YORK, May 29.—This afternoon Bertha Schreyer, a German married woman, 25 years old, was shot four times by John Berken, and taken to the hospital in a dying condition. The murderer, after the shooting, turned the revolver on himself and blew out his brains.

Two Men Killed in a Colliery.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., May 29.—By the fall of a roof to day in the Wyoming colliery of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company, John Sheilock, a miner, and a Hungarian laborer, were instantly killed.

The bile is removed, the head cleared and digestion restored by Simmons Liver Regulator.

This magnificent property comprises 1400 lots and lies immediately between the city of East Portland (population 12,000) on the south and the city of Albina (population 4000) on the north, being really a "reserve" between two populous centers with a combined population of SIXTEEN THOUSAND. It is high, commanding a view of the entire cities of Portland, East Portland and Albina and is reached by the street cars of the Willamette Bridge Railway Co. from either Portland or East Portland. This company is now operating two lines of street cars, one running north from Holladay's addition, through the heart of East Portland, across the Morrison street bridge, and the other running due west across the new steel bridge, both lines terminating in Portland. In addition to these two lines the cars of the Vancouver motor line run directly through Holladay's addition from north to south. The property can also be easily reached from the "west side" by either the Southern Pacific Railroad Company's steam ferry or by the small ferries running from Portland to Albina. Some of the finest residences on the "east side" are located in this addition. Many of the most prominent residents of Portland and East Portland are now purchasing property in Holladay's addition and many elegant and substantial residences will be constructed there during the coming year. A magnificent Boulevard, Holladay avenue, 100 feet wide, cuts through the entire property from west to east, and is now one of the most popular drives out of the city. This connects with the new steel railroad and wagon bridge (spanning the Willamette) on the west, thus giving easy access into Portland from this most desirable property. Address or call on

PORTLAND, THURSDAY, MAY 30.

IN MEMORIAM.

It is a sacred duty our nation owes to the patriot dead who gave their lives for their country—who, in the language of that instrument that has become immortal, devoted their lives, their fortunes, and their sacred honor to the cause of freedom—to pay respect to their memory by an observance that shall hand down to future generations the story of their devotion, as an incentive to a patriotism and loyalty that shall ever hold life and fortune waiting at their country's call in the hour of danger.

It is only possible now to review briefly the lessons of American history and glance at the different eras that have called for the greatest sacrifice a people can give. The story of the War of the Revolution, of Washington and the noble souls surrounding him, who fought for liberty with a halter around their necks, is known to every child. It is, as it should be, a lesson learned by the youngest as an incentive to a loyalty that holds life cheaply when country calls. Through long years of suffering, hardship, privation and constant war the infant colonies fought their way, and on every battle-field and in many a skirmish lives were lost that counted in the price of our national existence. Though a century has gone it is not too late to lay floral offerings on the graves of those early dead, who died to leave us liberty. It is not possible truly to estimate the difficulty they encountered, the fearful hardships they endured, the terrible struggle they maintained. One fact that made that revolutionary period memorable and its victory so great a triumph is often overlooked, and that is that the majority of Americans in that time that tried men's souls were either lukewarm or were friendly to King George, from motives of policy or fear.

True patriotism has a zeal and enthusiasm that mercenary sentiments or motives of fear cannot withstand. The loyalist or tory of '76 was a coward often and never had his soul enlisted in the cause, as did the patriot of his time. With the most powerful nation in the world for an open enemy, pouring armies upon them from every side, and her fleets blockading and bombarding their shores, our revolutionary sires fought their way to independence. The memory of Lafayette is borne in upon that period as a token of the debt our nation owed to France in that perilous time, for without the aid of France the end could not have come as it did, or possibly might not have come in their time.

The War of 1812 was the second struggle for independence. In 1776 they fought for freedom on the land, and 1812 saw another war to establish our rights as a nation everywhere, and especially our freedom upon the seas, where our commerce troubled England's trade. Again we won, and again patriots gave their lives for a nation's honor. That struggle was not so pathetic a trial of loyalty as was the long-drawn conflict that lasted from Lexington to Yorktown, when the young colonies rose in arms and the rustic militia of the Atlantic seaboard offered battle to the trained veterans of Europe. But again they won, and the victory was the more notable because, as before, a majority of the people of the United States were at the outset more or less opposed to the war. But this second war with England gave our nation a place among earth's greatest powers and made it respected because it could be feared.

The war with Mexico in 1846 was so unpopular that Tom Corwin voiced the feeling of a majority of the people when he said the Mexicans could not be blamed if they welcomed our armies "with bloody hands to hospitable graves." Again we were victorious and the result was the ceding of California to be one of the brightest jewels in the American sisterhood. There was no such patriotic motive in this war with Mexico, but it gave rich fruitage, and they who went at their country's call to fight its battles deserve honor at our hands.

What comes home to us at this time with especial force, because men mature in years saw it in life's early prime, is the war of the great rebellion, that shook the continent to its center, converting a nation that knew no arts but those of peace into a nation of warriors—that converted every village into an armed camp and made every homestead in the land a possible battle-field. Beside those terrible years of war the records of a century shrink to insignificance. The war of the revolution seems like years of mere skirmishing and the nation's other contests bear no comparison. Those four years of fratricidal—almost suicidal strife bore such fruit as time had never known and produced results world wide and of most significance. We can only dwell a moment on results and on the terrible zeal with which men North and South fought, as each thought, for country and for right. Now the Southern man sees that he was wrong and that the greater prosperity of his section results from changes war has wrought. With the Northern patriot all was at stake. He knew what the Southerner could not and would not see; that division was impossible. The future of freedom lay in union, and while the Northern patriot took up arms for union as the only hope of perpetuating free government, the Southern man fought for a system formed on slavery. Again, we see the singular fact of a nation so divided that a majority were at heart against the government and against its armies. It is true that the best blood of the whole North was poured out like water, and, greatly to their honor, be it said, that many citizens of foreign birth well earned their citizenship and right of suffrage by taking up arms and offering themselves as soldiers of the republic in its hour of trial. With eleven states in open rebellion, and those on the border only restrained by fear, making sixteen states that virtually sided with secession, there was also a very strong minority in the North that lent aid and comfort to the enemy. Ohio had Vallandigham, who talked the rankest treason to enthusiastic audiences, denouncing the war, and reviling its noblest leaders. Indiana had Voorhees, who now tries to deny or explain his treasonable utterances. Every Northern state had sympathizers with rebellion, and more than one-third in many states opposed the war. But the providence of God raised up men to rule the hour, equal to the emergency. The loyal states had governors who stood firmly by the president, and their names will go down in the history of that time with highest honor. By having the government of Northern states in loyal hands it was possible to hold sedition in check, and finally to crush out rebellion.

Whoever reads history carefully, so as to recognise the fearfulness of the situation and the depth of the treason that Buchanan's administration perpetrated, will recognize that the government under Lincoln had every possible difficulty to encounter. The army was scattered, and the navy dispersed at the ends of the earth. Arms and equipments were in Southern arsenals, where the Confederacy could capture them. All the material of war possible to control had been placed within reach of the rebellion. With treason on every side and lukewarmness ever near, the tocsin of war called the patriotic North to arms. They took up arms for what? Was it money to be earned? No, they gave up lucrative trades to fight for their country. They went forth from happy homes, from life's comforts and the delights of peace, left wife and child, father and mother sweetheart and happiness, to meet the hardships of the campaign and the perils of the battle field. The copperhead remained at home to vote against the war and comfort the enemy, while the pride of American manhood, the flower of loyalty and patriotism marched to battle and often to death.

Oh, the terror of that time. The fearfulness of that struggle, the grandeur of the patriotism which enrolled over 2,500,000 in the armies of the Union and at last made them invincible. So long as time endures and the stars and stripes shall float over free soil in America let this Memorial Day be observed. Let orators and poets, writers and teachers everywhere upon the soil of freedom, speak in honor of the heroes of 1776 who won our freedom first, under the lead of Washington, and of the patriotic men of 1861 who saved freedom and preserved the Union under the lead of Abraham Lincoln. For all time let passing generations honor the memory of the nation's defenders, of whatever date, as they strew flowers and weave garlands for the patriot dead.

A REVIVAL OF THE GRANGE.

Reports of the financial officers of the Oregon State Grange, now in session at Salem, show a material increase during the past year, both in the membership and prosperity of the organization. Some fifteen or twenty years ago this order was numerous and powerful throughout the West—Oregon bearing a full share in the general popularity that attended it. Reverses overtook it, and apathy usurped the place of enthusiasm among its members, until in many localities it practically died out. It was, however, strongly entrenched in the regard of many of the intelligent men and women of the farming communities. Its social features made it particularly attractive to the young people, while the jaded, worn wives of many farmers grew to look upon "the grange meeting" as a welcome break in the monotony of their isolated and busy lives. As a political element it essayed something but accomplished little, and that little can scarcely be said to have resulted beneficially even to the class in whose interests it was urged. Its protective feature was, next to the social, the most popular. It proposed by combination—a sort of "farmers' trust"—to secure the profits of agriculture to the producer, and rule out, as commercial sharks, the class known as "middle men," whose deft handling of crops draws a profit from both producer and consumer. Its failure in this regard has been amply attested.

The aims and objects of the organization are good. In seeking to promote the social interests of farming communities, it has done a lasting service to the class immediately interested; and in the revival of its work, which the public is assured is now taking place in this state, its managers will no doubt profit by the mistakes that caused many of the plans engineered by the order in former years to fail. While it is not probable that it will ever attain the numerical proportions that made it a powerful organization in other years, it may yet rejoice in a substantial growth and become all the more effective in carrying out the legitimate objects for which it is striving than would be possible to an organization grown unwieldy in size and unmanageable through the conflict of individual opinions, and the disintegrating forces of jealousy, envy and personal differences.

An abnormal growth is necessarily an unhealthy one. The history of the grange is not alone in furnishing illustration of this. Numerous temperance orders have preceded and followed it in this line, that of the Independent Order of Good Templars being the most noted. There was a time when everybody, men and women, boys and girls in the village communities belonged to that order, and strong working lodges existed in every city. The organization had its day, and a busy, enthusiastic one it was—did its work, suffered decline, and in many places literally vanished.

The Knights of Labor—the most powerful organization of the present age, had a period of marvelous growth, but the forces of disintegration have been at work upon it for the past two years, and it is being sapped of its vitality, and has been largely shorn of the numerical strength that made it for a time a formidable foe to corporate power. If the counsels of prudence are permitted to prevail in its management it may recover somewhat the ground that it has lost through misdirected zeal, but it will never regain the hold which was broken by its own arrogance and imprudence.

So with the grange; proceeding in a modest, practical way, it may regain some of the force that it lost through indiscretion, and built up in this way the days of its true usefulness may yet be to come. So long as the organization works in practical, temperate ways, it deserves to succeed, and whenever it forgets this, it will, as heretofore, decline in numbers, zeal and usefulness.

In his petition for an injunction to restrain Henry Villard from making further issues of O. & T. stock, and from selling O. R. & N. stock held by the O. & T., Elijah Smith alleged, "upon information and belief," that the "directors of the O. & T., resident in Oregon, are not largely interested in said company, and are entirely subservient to the wishes and instructions from time to time received by them from New York through the president of said company, who is one Henry Villard." This is a fact well-known here. The Oregon directors, receiving instructions from Mr. Villard, have passed just such resolutions as he dictated. Yet in his answer he denies that "the directors resident in Oregon are entirely subservient to the wishes and instructions from time to time received by them from New York through the president of the company, meaning myself." It would look better to deal frankly with matters of this kind.

The many friends of John L. Sullivan, of Boston, will doubtless be pleased to learn that he came out of a wrestling match of ten rounds with William Muldoon, in Cincinnati, yesterday "not in the least fatigued." In the absence of the regular health bulletin the public may understand from this announcement that he is able to drink his regular allowance of whisky, and is anxious for an "engagement" that will furnish at least a column of detail of the manner in which he "punished" his antagonist. Tantalizing as it is, the great American people must be content at present with the knowledge that he is in "splendid condition," and stood his late exercise so well.

The United States maintains but four first class foreign missions, to-wit: Those at London, Paris, Berlin and St. Petersburg. The salary of each is $17,500 a year, but it costs each minister twice that sum to hold the office and maintain proper dignity in it. Minister Reed has rented a residence in Paris at $20,000 a year, or $2500 more than his salary. Only a very rich man can afford to take one of these positions.

A powerful British fleet, now on the way to Esquimalt, will cruise in Behring sea this season. There can be but one interpretation to this, it being evident that it is not the intention of her majesty's government to permit the seizure of British sealers in prohibited waters this year. It seems probable that there will be interesting news from that far away section before the sealing season is over.

"The president," says the New York Evening Post, "has been devoting his entire time to the distribution of patronage from the moment that he entered office." Strange what a multitude of democratic office holders, and of republican office seekers, haven't heard the Post's news.

THE LEGEND OF MEMORIAL DAY.

BY E. L. THORP.

The gleams of a million stars were caught
To make one form of clay;
An angel hand
With magic wand,
Drew from the light of day
A rippling smile,
And placed it where
The seal of love
Could press it there
To stay.

The deep moonbeams of a thousand years
Fell from her eyes of light;
The raven's wing
Could scarcely bring
To rival her locks of night,
And Nature fashioned
The dainty form—
A sylph's lost shadow
Made live and warm
And bright.

On the field of war where the heroes fell,
She came, a radiant gleam.
A warrior's soul
Had reached the goal,
The end of life's bright stream.
All wars for him
Were at an end,
His soul was winged
That it might trend
Death's dream.

His eyes were closed, but his lips yet bore
A weary sigh o' pain;
The languid twirl
Of an auburn curl
A breeze made live again.
A faint heart beat,
And gasping breath,
One shuddering thrill,
And life for death
Was vain.

The starlight form with the moonbeam glance
And wealth of raven hair,
Knelt by his side
And ere he died
Poured forth her soul in prayer
Her right arm poised
And face upturned,
Her lips scarce knew
The words that turned
To air.

"Oh, God of war and hate," she prayed
There in the gore and dust,
"From all the land
Remove thy hand
And give to Peace thy trust.
A million lives
We give to thee
For Freedom's sake,
That full may be
Thy lust."

The dying soldier heard the prayer,
His eyes were opened wide;
With ebbing breath
'Mid dews of death
There came a gleam of pride
"When flowers," he said,
"Shall bloom once more.
All war shall cease
And strife be o'er—"
And died.

His tomb is made where the palm trees wave,
And wild flowers bloom in May;
But memory keeps,
As the hero sleeps,
Its sentry watch to-day,
And time will come,
And time will go;
The tides will ebb,
The tides will flow,
Nor stay.

But memory's day, as crowned with years,
Shall hallow the soldier's rest;
The bright May bloom
Upon his tomb,
His sword upon his breast.
A laurel wreath
Shall deck his brow,
Placed by the north,
And east, and now
The west.

The flowers of to-day are showered upon
Alike the grey and blue;
Who lie beneath
The floral wreath—
A tribute to the true.
They fell as foes,
But time has healed
All hate and grief
Of battle field,
We knew.

Then flowers we'll scatter upon their graves—
Choicest of Heaven's gifts.
The stripes and stars
And palmetto bars
A grateful memory lifts
To cover all
Their aims and faults,
Conceal the grave
And hide the vaults
And rifts.

DECORATION DAY.

BY LANGDON ELWYN MITCHELL.

With acclamation and with trumpet tone,
With prayer and praise, and with triumphal state
Of warlike columns, and the moving weight
Of men, whose firmness never overthrown,
Proved itself steadfast; which did add to fate
Speed, vision, certainty, and ever grown
More terrible as more enduring shone
A fire of retribution and swift hate,
All visibly advancing—with these we keep
Unsullied in our breast and pure and white
The spirit of gratitude that may not sleep—
A nation's safeguard against shame and blight—
Since sacred memories and the tears men weep
Alone can keep a nation at its height.

Bessie (writing again, in great perplexity)—Dear papa, I don't know whether to bring him or not. What are your views as to the spelling of proper names? Gerald spells his last name Smythe.

MUSICALE LAST NIGHT.—The musicale, given at the Taylor-street M. E. church last night for the benefit of the Portland hospital, proved a rare musical treat for those who were in attendance. The audience was composed principally of lovers of good music and it is needless to say that the entertainment met the highest expectations of all. The excellent programme was well carried out to the entire satisfaction of the most critical. Among those who participated in the exercises and therefore contributed to the success of the entertainment are Professor Bettinger, Mrs. W. A. [illegible], Edward K. Hoover, Professor E. Miller, Wetzel, Edward K. Hoover, Miss M. [illegible], Paul, Miss Geraldine Coursen, Miss the East Portland Wessinger, Master Alfred Holt, the East Portland glee club, and a chorus of twenty ladies. Miss Lalla Dalton acted as accompanist. Before the singing of the last number on the programme Rev. Alfred Kummer, on behalf of the Portland hospital, in a few fitting words thanked the audience for their presence, for their silver, and for their presents, and those who participated for their kind and gratuitous services.

THE ELECTRIC MOTOR ROAD.—Work on the construction of the electric motor road from the foot of Yamhill street to Fulton park is being pushed with great vigor and more progress has been made than the public are aware of. Out above the Italian gardens the right of way is cleared and considerable of grading done and also above the Terwilliger place there is a long lane cut through the timber and a road bed graded for a considerable distance. At the end of Corbett street a force of men are clearing the right of way and a pile of lumber is on the ground for bridging the gulch. At other points on the line where bridges are needed lumber is piled ready for work and everything is being done to rush the work of construction ahead as fast as possible. The energy displayed shows that the company means business and there is no doubt about the road being completed on time. Before the public fairly realize it Portland will have more electric, steam and cable roads than all the towns in the Northwest.

"IS POOR DICKIE DEAD?"—Two gentlemen walking up Morrison street at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon were startled by a whirring sound in front of them, and a crash at their feet, shortly after they had crossed Second street. Their silk hats certainly had a close call, for a brass bird cage containing a canary had fallen from the third story of the building on the southwest corner of Second and Morrison streets and landed directly in front of them. Seeing the canary fluttering in the badly demolished cage, an Oregonian reporter stepped across the street to where it was in hopes of preventing its escape; but this was unnecessary, as the little bird expired in his hand, having been killed by the shock. The owner of the bird, on receiving its remains from the hand of the reporter, was greatly grieved to find that it was dead. As DeLin & Holman had no coffin small enough the precious remains were consigned to a plain every-day cigar box and put beneath the sod.

WHO WILL CLAIM THE PACKAGE?—Mr. Hoyt, who attends to the lights at the lower end of Swan island, notified Coroner DeLin yesterday that he had found the remains of an infant which had washed ashore. He said that when he discovered the body he did not know what it was, as they had been neatly sewed up in a pillow case or some other piece of linen, and he had to cut the cloth before he knew what he was handling. From its appearance the miniature corpse could not have been in the water but a short time. The general supposition is that the child's mother, either being poor, or else wishing to dispose of the remains in this manner for other reasons, prepared the body in the manner above described, and secretly consigned it to the tender mercies of the river from one of the docks in this city, and it floated down with the current to where it was found. The body will be brought to this city this evening.

WILL BE A BIG BEAR YET.—Mr. M. Olsen, a commercial traveler lately returned from Alaska, brought with him a small black bear which he has donated to the city park. Parkkeeper Myers has the young bruin tied to a tree near his house, but when he is away supervising the work in the lower garden, it soon makes known its uneasiness by emitting several squeaky, half-matured grunts and snorts. It then has to be taken to the lower garden and staked out upon the green sward, where it is supremely happy. "Pete," for that is the name of the young cub, is very playful, and takes great delight in having small dogs for companions. It will play with them good naturedly until they become too rough, when it quickly retaliates by giving them a vigorous cuff on the ears. This has the desired effect, for a little of this treatment goes a good ways, and the dogs slink off.

REDUCED THE INSURANCE.—The directors of the Industrial Fair Association have reduced the insurance on the exposition building to a pretty low figure, on account of the premium charged. At first it was 1¼ per cent., then 3 and then it was raised to 6. The directors consider this too much when it is considered that the building stands [illegible] away from the buildings on all sides, and that the engine room is of iron and fire proof and is entirely separate from the main building, that a fire engine is handy and there is a fire plug at two corners of the building and a 4 inch main runs into the building, and three hose pipes are connected with it and a watchman is kept there day and night, and the building is lighted with electricity. Sooner than pay the excessive premium the directors will do without insurance.

SAHLINGER AGAIN IN HOT WATER.—J. S. Sahlinger, the old quarrelsome tailor, who keeps a little shop on Fourth street near Salmon, evidently is not happy unless he is in a fight with some of his tenants, and his experiences with courts he looks upon as a pleasant pastime. Yesterday he was again arrested on complaint of Charles Schmaetz, one of his roomers, who charges him with using abusive and obscene language. Schmaetz also alleges that Sahlinger broke into his room one night while himself and wife were occupying it. Sahlinger was recently bound over to appear before the grand jury for burglarizing the room of Stephen Conkright, but as the case has been "shelved," he laughs at any harm that can be done him by causing his arrest on any other charge.

DEATH OF AN ONLY SON.—Edwin F. Shurtleff, aged eight years and four months, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Shurtleff, died at 5:30 yesterday morning of membraneous croup. He was a bright and promising boy, a favorite with his teachers and schoolmates, and the idol of his parents who by his death are left childless. The flag at Park school was at half-mast yesterday on account of his death, and the desk he had occupied in the school was covered with floral offerings from his schoolmates. As the interment will take place at the family burial ground in Polk county, funeral services will be held at the family residence at 6:30 to-morrow morning. Schoolmates and friends are invited to view the remains after 6:30 this afternoon.

UP GOES THE MERCURY, UP GOES ICE.—The different ice companies of the city have agreed between themselves to raise the price of ice after June 1. Commencing with that day the price of ice in quantities from ten to twenty pounds will be 1½ cents per pound; from twenty-five to 100 pounds, 1¼ cents, and from 100 to 200 pounds, 1 cent per pound. No ice will be sold for less than 1 cent a pound. This information is liable to cause a public sigh, followed by a wistful look at fans and parasols, and a quaking apprehension lest some one get a corner in these, be it (the corner) ever so small. What the public would do if an increase in the price of these articles were ordered is something too awful to contemplate.

SHE RAN AWAY FROM HOME.—Jennie McF[illegible], a fourteen-year-old girl, who lately ran away from her home at Yaquina bay, found her way to Portland and is at present in charge of the Boys and Girls' Aid society. Jennie's father and mother were divorced some time ago, she being awarded to her mother. Her father then left for Oswego where he has a hotel and her mother married another man named Christiansen. Jennie evidently soon tired of her new home relations, for when picked up here, she said that she had come in search of her father. Mr. Powers has not decided what to do with her, but will make sure that she is not led astray by the vices of city life. She will be placed in good hands.

THROUGH TO SHOALWATER BAY.—About a year ago a committee of Ilwaco, W. T., citizens came to this city to solicit subscriptions for the stock of the North Beach railroad, the subscriptions to be payable when trains were running to Nahcotta, the terminus of the road, near Oysterville, on Shoalwater bay. The road is now completed to that point, and 100 merchants and capitalists of this city have been invited to take a free ride over the road. Those who accept will leave Portland to-night, and to-morrow morning the steamer General Canby will convey them from Astoria to Ilwaco, where they will board the train and be whirled over the line.

NO PARADE LABOR DAY.—The Federated Trades have decided not to parade on Labor day, and have also given up the idea of having appropriate literary exercises. Owing to the inclement weather prevalent during March and April, the brickmakers, carpenters and bricklayers made but little money, and they have come to the conclusion that they would rather earn a day's wages on Saturday than parade. However, the labor organizations will probably participate in the Fourth of July procession, and if they do they will make a good showing. Last year their display was one of the principal features of the parade.

NOT THE OFFICIAL PROGRAMME.—The committee in charge of the Fourth of July celebration has been notified that some one is going around selling space on this year's programme. There is no objection to that, but the official programme will contain no advertisements of any kind. One enterprising firm offered $200 for the exclusive privilege of having their advertisement on the back of 10,000 programmes, which they agreed to furnish. The offer was declined. The programme will be a souvenir to be retained by our visitors.

WANTED—A BENCH SHOW.—"A bench show would prove a drawing card at the exposition of the North Pacific Industrial Association," said the owner of two fine hunting dogs, to a reporter yesterday. "There are many dogs of high breed in Oregon and Washington, and their owners would only be too glad to display them. We have never had a good bench show yet, and consequently the people have never had an opportunity of seeing what kind of dogs we have."

TO-DAY'S GAME.—Elsewhere will be found an announcement of a game of baseball, (the first of a championship series of fifteen games,) between the Willamettes and Portlands. The game will be played to-day at the White house, Riverside, and promises to be a rattling good one. Fare for the round trip has been reduced to five cents. For full particulars see the advertisement.

REDUCED THE INSURANCE.—The directors of the Industrial Fair Association have reduced the insurance on the exposition building to a pretty low figure on account of the premium charged. At first it was 1¼ per cent, then 3 and then it was raised to 5. The directors consider this too much, when it is considered that the building stands far away from the buildings on all sides, and that the engine room is of iron and fire proof and is entirely separate from the main building that a fire engine is handy and there is a fire plug at two corners of the building and a 4 inch main runs into the building, and three hose pipes are connected with it and a watchman is kept there day and night, and the building is lighted with electricity. Sooner than pay the excessive premium the directors will do without insurance.

SAHLINGER AGAIN IN HOT WATER.—J S Sahlinger, the old-quarrelsome tailor who keeps a little shop on Fourth street near Salmon, evidently is not happy unless he is in a fight with some of his tenants, and his experiences with courts he looks upon as a pleasant pastime. Yesterday he was again arrested on complaint of Charles Schmeets, one of his roomers, who charges him with using abusive and obscene language. Schmeets also alleges that Sahlinger broke into his room one night while himself and wife were occupying it. Sahlinger was recently bound over to appear before the grand jury for burglarizing the room of Stephen Conkright, but as the case has been 'shelved,' he laughs at any harm that can be done him by causing his arrest on any other charge.

DEATH OF AN ONLY SON.—Edwin F Shurtleff, aged eight years and four months, son of Mr. and Mrs. F N. Shurtleff, died at 5.30 yesterday morning of membraneous croup. He was a bright and promising boy, a favorite with his teachers and schoolmates, and the idol of his parents who by his death are left childless. The flag at Park school was at half-mast yesterday on account of his death, and the desk he had occupied in the school was covered with floral offerings from his schoolmates. As the interment will take place at the family burial ground in Polk county, funeral services will be held at the family residence at 4:30 to-morrow morning. Schoolmates and friends are invited to view the remains after 3 30 this afternoon.

UP GOES THE MERCURY UP GOES ICE.—The different ice companies of the city have agreed between themselves to raise the price of ice after June 1. Commencing with that day the price of ice in quantities from ten to twenty pounds will be 1½ cents per pound, from twenty five to 100 pounds, 1¼ cents, and from 100 to 200 pounds 1⅛ cents per pound. No ice will be sold for less than 1 cent a pound. This information is liable to cause a public sigh followed by a wistful look at fans and parasols, and a quaking apprehension lest some one get a corner in these be it (the corner) ever so small. What the public would do if an increase in the price of these articles were ordered is something too awful to contemplate.

SHE RAN AWAY FROM HOME.—Jennie McFarland, a fourteen-year-old girl, who lately ran away from her home at Yaquina bay found her way to Portland and is at present in charge of the Boys and Girls' Aid society. Jennie's father and mother were divorced some time ago, she being awarded to her mother. Her father then left for Oregon where he has a hotel and her mother married another man named Christiansen. Jennie evidently soon tired of her new home and when picked up here, she said that she had been in search of her father. Mr Powers has not yet decided what to do with her, but will no doubt see that she is not led astray by the vices of city life. She will be placed in good hands.

EXCURSION TO SHOALWATER BAY.—About a year ago a committee of Ilwaco W. T., citizens came to this city to solicit subscriptions for the stock of the North Beach railroad, the subscriptions to be payable when trains were running to Nahcotta, the terminus of the road near Oysterville, on Shoalwater bay. The road is now completed to that point, and 150 merchants and capitalists of this city have been invited to take a free ride on the road. Those who accept will leave Portland to-day, and to-morrow morning the steamer General Canby will convey them from Astoria to Ilwaco, where they will board the train and be whisked over the line.

NO PARADE LABOR DAY.—The Federated Trades have decided not to parade on Labor day, and have given up the idea of having appropriate literary exercises. Owing to the inclement weather prevalent during March and April, the brick makers, carpenters and bricklayers made but little money and they have come to the conclusion that they would rather earn a day's wages on Saturday than parade. However, the labor organizations will probably participate in the Fourth of July procession, and if they do they will make a good showing. Last year their display was one of the principal features of the parade.

BUY THE OFFICIAL PROGRAMME.—The committee in charge of the Fourth of July celebration has been notified that some one is going around selling space on this year's programme. There is no objection to that, but the official programme will contain no advertisements of any kind. One enterprising firm offered $200 for the exclusive privilege of having their advertisement on the back of 10,000 programmes, which they agreed to furnish. The offer was declined. The programme will be a souvenir to be retained by our visitors.

WANTED—A BENCH SHOW.—"A bench show would prove a drawing card at the exposition of the North Pacific Industrial Association," said the owner of two fine hunting dogs to a reporter yesterday. "There are many dogs of high breed in Oregon and Washington and their owners would be too glad to display them. We have never had a good bench show yet, and consequently the public has never had an opportunity of seeing the kind of dogs we have."

TO-DAY'S GAME.—Elsewhere will be found the announcement of a game of baseball, (the first of the championship series of fifteen games,) between [illegible] and Portlands. The game will be played to-day at the White house, Riverside, and promises to be a rattling good one. Fare for [illegible]

[illegible] Baldwin motors will be run on each train. This is a good opportunity for those who desire to attend either the Memorial exercises at Portland or Vancouver or to witness the great match race between the well known horses Susie S and Lady Maud, and return home in the cool of the evening.

STATE MEDICAL BOARD ORGANIZED.—The board of examiners of Oregon to regulate the practice of medicine met on Tuesday evening at Dr Browne's office and organized. The officers of the board are Dr James Dickson president, Dr O P S Plummer, treasurer, Dr James Browne secretary. Several communications were received from practitioners who have neglected to register according to law and one applicant was examined and granted a license. Present appearances indicate that the board will have a good deal to do in the near future in connection with the new law regulating the practice of medicine.

HIS SIDE OF IT.—W J Smith of the Opera Exchange saloon on Sixth street whose place was mentioned a few days ago as being the scene of loud singing and boisterous conduct, states that he thinks an injustice was done him in the item. He claims he does not keep a disreputable resort but a quiet and orderly place. On the night in question there were several persons in the saloon who, despite his protests were singing loudly and persisted in doing so. It was an exception Smith claims and he will not allow such conduct to be repeated in the future.

DEATH OF J BROOK.—J Brook an Englishman over 60 years of age who has resided for many years out near the North plains in Washington county died a few days since rather suddenly. He was a bachelor and an eccentric character supposed to have accumulated considerable property. He has kept an account with Ladd & Tilton for thirty years. He is not known to have any relatives and left a will devising his property to some of his personal friends. His farm is left to one O Donnel who has lived with him and cared for him for several years.

MORE TELEPHONE WIRES.—Another section, capable of accommodating 200 wires has been added to the switchboard at the central telephone office. Every one of these wires will have to be cut into the 600 wires now on the switchboard, and the 600 into the 200 so as to have all the wires in front of each operator. The magnitude of the job can be comprehended from the number of wires to be handled.

EDWARD WIBERG'S FUNERAL.—The funeral of Edward Wiberg was held at the home of his parents, near Mount Tabor at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, Rev John Parsons, pastor of the Mount Tabor Methodist church officiating. The floral offerings were numerous and very beautiful. The pallbearers were Wat Bodkin, Frank Akin George Curry, George Sewell, James Patterson and J Phillips.

SPECIAL TRIPS FOR DECORATION DAY.—The steamer Undine will leave Vancouver to-day at 9 A M, 1 and 6 P M returning she will leave Portland at 11 A M 4 and 10 P M. Fare for the round trip 50 cents. This is an excellent opportunity for a short ride on the river and for citizens of either Portland or Vancouver to spend the day away from home.

CORNER STONE LAYING.—The Norwegian Danish Lutheran congregation will lay the corner stone of a church they propose to build at C and Thirteenth streets, at 4 o clock this afternoon. Addresses by Dr Passavant, Rev Skans and Rev Birkeland. The church is to be a very neat structure 43x78 feet, to seat 600 people and to cost about $6000.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.—At a regular council held last night by Willamette tribe, No 6, Improved Order of Red Men the following officers were elected to serve for the ensuing term of eighteen months J Oberender, sachem, A. P Loervig S S Rud Wildi, J S, H Frey, prophet, M Amacher trustee.

VISITING THE CITY.—Miss Leila Mackay, of Pendleton, is in the city visiting friends. Miss Mackay is a daughter of Dr W C Mackay, of Pendleton. She will remain until the last of June, when she will return home with her father, who will be down to attend the Pioneer's reunion.

ANOTHER NEW BOAT.—Mr J H Johnson boat builder, will leave for the East to-day where he will make a contract for the machinery for a steamer Mr J B Montgomery is about to build to run on the Albina route. The keel of the boat is already laid.

EN ROUTE TO BRAZIL.—Mrs R A Habersham and two children will leave overland for New York in a few days on her way to Brazil to visit her mother whom she has not seen for many years. They will be gone about six months.

THEATER ROYAL.—With a number of new really first-class attractions the performance at Clinton's Royal theater this week is above the average in excellence. The house draws its usual large crowds.

IMPORTED CHALIS.—An exquisite line of embroidered shoulder wraps is offered to-day at J Selling & Co's. Prices reduced for the occasion.

A BARGAIN HUNTER can get a five-acre tract, one half mile west of Mount Tabor for $3250. Address Must Sell, care OREGONIAN. Part time.

POSTOFFICE HOURS.—The postoffice will be closed from 10 A M to 5 P M to-day. The carriers will make the regular morning delivery.

VERY COMPLIMENTARY RESOLUTIONS

James Browne M D LL D, recently appointed by Governor Pennoyer on the examining board, under the recent act for the regulation of the practice of medicine in the state of Oregon has, in consequence of that appointment tendered his resignation as professor of physiology and hygiene in the medical department of the Willamette university with which institution he has been associated for fifteen years. At the annual faculty meeting held May 27, 1889 the following resolutions were adopted

Resolved That in accepting the resignation of Dr James Browne as professor of physiology and hygiene we tender him the united thanks of the faculty for his long and faithful services in connection with this medical department both as teacher and friend, and sincerely trust that he may long be spared to serve in the honorable position to which he has been called.

COMING MUSICAL TREAT

The Cecilian Opera Company to Soon Appear at New Park Theater.

The sale for the performance of the Cecilian opera company opened with quite a rush yesterday. From present indications they are going to play to crowded houses and the bidding for seats is lively. Pretty Galatea is the opening opera. It is one of those bouffes very funny filled with pretty topical songs and dancing, and at the same time of a very high order of merit. Miss Millzner in the title role promises to be a revelation. She is a graceful actress very pretty, and her dancing and singing in the second act of the opera is said to be wonderful. She is among the most talented actresses in the country, and is fast encroaching on the ground held by Judic, only she sings much better than Judic ever did. She is also equal to grand opera as well and will appear in 'Faust' on Saturday night. The rest of the company is very strong, and will no doubt receive a cordial welcome when they open Friday night.

THE BURNT CORK CRESCENT.

Johnson & Slavin Minstrel Company Soon to Appear in Portland.

Next Tuesday June 4 Johnson & Slavin's minstrels will make their appearance at New Park theater for a short season. Mr E J Shultz general agent for the company is now in the city. The Philadelphia Press in speaking of this company, says

> Johnson & Slavin's minstrels are so much better than all of their kind seen here before that they may be classed as a new species. The grotesque which with broad horseplay usually predominates, is here so carefully refined that it flavors and renders pungent the performance, and leaves ample room for the graceful and artistic, the melodious and the beautiful. Rarely has an audience been better entertained, and with more unbroken continuance from beginning to end. The singing was excellent the music new, the solo voices remarkably good and cultivated, the costumes of notable variety and exceeding richness, and the entire entertainment of a most praiseworthy quality

Another O. R. & N. Branch.

Colfax Commoner

The rumor, published some few weeks ago, to the effect that the O R & N Company had in view the construction of a branch line of railway from Colfax to Sprague, and extending into the heart of the Big Bend country, begins to assert itself in a substantial way. The Wilbur Register of March 30 throws some very important light upon this proposed road, with the following information. "Major Sears's old line known as the Sprague & Big Bend railroad surveyed some years ago, tapping the Big Bend country via Sprague and Harrington extending in a northwesterly direction, and operated from territory belonging to the O R & N has been purchased by that company and it is safe to say that exclusive control of this vast agricultural region will not be yielded to other companies without a struggle."

PORTLAND, THURSDAY, MAY 30.

THE SLEEPLESS CYNIC.

Memorial day has one implacable, bitter enemy from Portland, Maine, to Portland, Oregon; from the St. Lawrence to the Gulf of Mexico. This enemy is peculiar to no party. He is like the army vermin that were no respecters of persons but bit a Confederate brigadier as impartially and as venomously as they did a Union soldier. This bitter enemy of Memorial day is that sleepless cynic of modern civilization, a lineal descendant of the envious and mean-spirited Greek who could not sleep because Aristides was called "The Just." There were some three millions of men on both sides involved in the dreadful civil war of 1861—65. They were the enthusiastic youth, the generous and the splendid manhood of both sides. At least half of them up to July, 1863, were fine young fellows ranging from 18 to 25 years of age. Those who took their places in 1864-65, were an inferior lot of men, who, as a rule do not survive to-day. The G. A. R., who are the conspicuous celebrants of the day, are good men and true. Of course no church is without its hypocrites and dissemblers; no bar is without its shysters; no court but has its soiled ermine. In that human nature displays its weakness, its infirmity as conspicuously within the G. A. R. as without. There are men in the G. A. R. who were shirks and sneaks in war as they have been in peace, but they are the exceptions. As a rule it is safe to say that a man who is in good standing with the G. A. R. to-day is a good citizen, an honorable man, a gentleman in thought and action, both in public and private life. Exceptions, notorious exceptions, can be cited, but they are so few that they only prove the rule that the Union veteran is a self-supporting and therefore self-respecting American citizen. And yet these survivors of an army of 2,000,000 are the subject of the ceaseless sneer of the sleepless American cynic, who thinks it wit and humor to make a burlesque of the moral enthusiasm and fervent patriotism that is expressed in the ceremonies of Memorial day.

The other day a resident of Oregon sneered at an article in THE OREGONIAN in defense and encomium of the Memorial day and denounced as "sentimental rot" the hackneyed quotation from O'Hara's poem, "On Fame's Eternal Camping Ground." The quotation was an unanswerable argument, because its survival out of a long and dreary mess of mediocre verses proves that the people have an increasing instinct for the good and the true. O'Hara, a Mexican war veteran, wrote this poem when the Kentucky dead of the Mexican war were buried in Louisville. The only verse that has survived of this dreary poem is the one derided by the Oregon critic who jests at scars because he never felt a wound. The heart of the people was touched by the ring of the true metal in this verse that our sleepless OREGONIAN cynic derides.

Our OREGONIAN sleepless cynic is but the double of the sleepless cynic of the Springfield Republican, who is never so happy as he is when he makes patriotic New England miserable by sneering at Memorial day as a mere opportunity for political demagogues by blatant speech to increase their influence.

There are men in Oregon and Washington territory who, as men of war times, remember that the young men of 1861-65 made splendid sacrifices that the nation might live, and on the ears of these men the words of the sleepless cynic, who is never so happy as he is when he is ridiculing men whose shoes he is not worthy to unloose, fall as unheeded as the shibboleth of a heathen or the mummery of a slave. The G. A. R. has had great injustice done it, because the individual infirmities of its members expose it to criticism, but as a rule the veterans of the Union army have "voted as they shot." Military spirit is not desirable in this country just now, but patriotic spirit is an object of public enthusiasm and congratulation.

It is entirely proper for those persons who have been in the service of the Oregonian railway, (narrow gauge,) to withdraw from that service, if for any reason they see fit to do so; but they ought to be advised that they have no right, as many of them are doing, to try to prevent the road from being operated. Perhaps the late employes do not know that in refusing to allow other men to work, in disabling the property, etc., they not only are not taking a course that will assist them in getting their pay, but are making themselves liable to be dealt with by the court under whose direction the road is managed. The men undoubtedly are entitled to their pay, and patience will secure it to them, but they have no right to resort to violent or lawless action, and if they persist in this course will surely bring trouble on themselves.

The hospital service of the Southern Pacific railroad was maintained last year at a cost of nearly $85,000. A total of 1618 patients was treated at the four hospitals during this period, of whom forty-eight died. Humanity and economy combine to render such institutions a necessity of the great railway systems of the country. Each employe contributes his monthly dole satisfied, like the holder of a life insurance policy, if the day of return for his premium is long deferred.

STAR ROUTE CONTRACTS.

The Assistant Attorney General Holds Them to be Illegally Executed.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—In the matter of the star route contracts suspended by Second Assistant Postmaster-General Whitfield, because of their apparent illegal if not fraudulent execution, the assistant attorney general for the postoffice department has just rendered a decision. He holds the entire series of contracts, amounting to $147,000, to be illegal and void. The proposals upon which the contracts are based, while held irregular in many respects, are not deemed absolutely void. The assistant attorney general holds that new contracts properly and legally executed may be received. The opinion recites at length the exculpatory evidence presented by the contractors.

SHOULD BE SETTLED.

The Demarcation of the Boundary Line Between Alaska and English Possessions Necessary.

OTTAWA, May 29.—Miners are flocking into the Yukon mining district in large numbers, and the demarcation of the boundary line between Alaska and the British possessions becomes more necessary daily. The jurisdiction of the American government there is questioned, many claiming the territory is British soil. The Canadian government for a year or two past has been pressing the American government to join with it in settling the disputed question. The cost of demarking the frontier is estimated at from $100,000 to $150,000.

THE PARNELL INQUIRY.

Two Members of Parliament Testify Before the Commission.

LONDON, May 29.—Maurice Healy, a member of parliament, before the Parnell commission to-day admitted that his branch of the league received applications from other branches for a list of merchants who were members of the league in order that other merchants might be boycotted. Healy held it was legitimate to place such a pressure upon the shopkeepers.

Benjamin Biggar, also a member of parliament, testified that he had been a member of the supreme council of the Fenian Brotherhood, but he was expelled in 1877 for advocating constitutional action. He joined the land league in 1878. He declared that the meaning of the speech he made in Cork in the spring of 1880, in which he referred to the anarchist Hartmann, as having imitators in Ireland, had been misunderstood. As a fact he only warned that the support of some candidates was likely to result in the use of dynamite. In a subsequent speech at Castletown, he advised the people to take care that the land they occupied should be of no value to land grabbers. He said it was no part of the league's duty to recommend the shooting of landlords, but that it was its duty to defend anybody charged with shooting landlords or their agents, if the crime was the outcome of bad laws. He and Patrick Egan were trustees of the funds of the league. He could not associate either Egan or Sheridan with outrages.

Biggar said that he contributed nothing to the Fenian fund. His object in joining the brotherhood was to obtain its assistance in the parliamentary election. Sir Henry James cross-examined Biggar. Witness said he never took part in the work of the league. He never drew a check or saw a bank book. He was naturally indolent and left the work to others. He did not know where the records of the money belonging to the league were kept, nor did he even know why he had been associated with Egan as treasurer. Just before the suppression of the Land League most of the books were removed. Thirty-two books had been handed to Soames, solicitor of the Times. Presiding Judge Hannen remarked that this was the first time he had heard about the books. Sir Henry James said it was a mistake; there were no such books in his possession. Biggar said all the important books of the league were removed to England and were very bulky. He did not know that any of the books had been destroyed. He has not the slightest notion of what became of them.

CANADIANS AND AMERICANS.

A Dispassionate but Unfavorable Comparison With Our Neighbors of the North.

Toronto Week.

To the ordinary foreigner, Canadians and Americans are one. They see no difference, apparently, in their manners, morals or speech. This is not, however, so wonderful when we remember that even a Canadian has to consider with some care before an answer could be given to the question that is certainly asked more at the present juncture than in the past—the question, What is the difference between a Canadian and an American?

The first difference is one lying on the surface, and yet yielding a solution to further problems—or at any rate indicating one. Canadians are of better physique than the inhabitants of the states—broader-shouldered, deeper-chested, more heavily built, and, for the most part, lacking that air of anxiety that is common to the citizens of the Union. It is no gallantry, but simple truth, to say that Canadian women look brighter, more cheerful, more lovable and more like Wordsworth's ideal woman than our fair American cousins; and perhaps the cause of the difference lies in the fact that Americans do not take so much exercise in the open air, and eat luxuries that are more toothsome than nourishing.

In manner of speech we are assimilating more and more with the Americans, but some differences still exist to show that English influence has not altogether fled. Canadians speak more slowly and in a lower key than Americans, but without the pleasant and musical utterance that marks the inhabitants of the seagirt isle, who seem gifted by kind nature with sweet and rich voices. No one who has attended the theaters in Canada, or across the border can fail to notice the difference in speech between English and American actors. Canadians take a position midway between the two, but incline to the American more than to the English.

Slowness in utterance is to some extent an index of the manner of life. The whole life of Americans is more or less a rush onwards, and nothing could be better than such a life if the sole object were to speedily settle the vast territories to the West and North and to develop the resources of the continent. To many Americans that is the sole aim of life; and so, compared with England, or even with Canada, they are a fast-living people, wedded, however, to their idols, so that the wise words of Herbert Spencer fell upon their ears, but have had no perceptible effect upon their manner of living. Canada, again, stands between the two extremes afforded by England and by young America—more progressive than England, less hurried and worried than the United States.

In politics the two countries differ more widely, perhaps, than anything else. It is not that our standard of political ethics is much higher than that of Americans, though higher it certainly is. But the intense spirit of American democracy almost merged in demagogism does not exist in Canada. Canadians are democratic, certainly, but whether it be the result of the link that still unites us to England or the result of more thorough training in professions and trades, democracy in Canada is a sober and rational goddess, whose worshipers never have to even affect a frenzy of devotion. If there were no stronger reason for maintaining our connection with the British empire this would be almost sufficient—that our system of democratic and responsible government is just nicely balanced by the soupcon of monarchy which we derive from British traditions. No honest Canadian wishes to see a Canadian house of lords, but neither should an honest Canadian wish to see among us an American house of representatives. In politics, therefore, as in so many other things, Canada appears as a link between the limited but unmistakably aristocratic monarchy of England and the hot and fiery democracy of the young republic.

Speaking of politics, reminds one that it has often been said that there was lamentable indifference in American elections to the personal character of the candidate—much more than is shown in our own country. This is hardly true, though undoubtedly the question of character is thrown greatly into the background by the more engrossing of "record." "What is his record?" is a more vital question in an American election, and one much more often asked than the question "What is his character?" Besides this, there is a general feeling among the better class of Americans that politicians are little better than knaves, that they are animated by a wish for the perquisites of office; that they bear an itching palm; and, in fact, are altogether corrupt. We have not gone so far as this in Canada. High-minded and honorable men yet take part in politics, and their honor is never called into question. Most of our leading statesmen have not profited pecuniarily from their position in parliament, but have retired from politics poorer than when they entered it. The spirit of the time is sometimes reflected in the comic papers of a country, and no one who reads the numerous comic journals in the United States can doubt that the distrust of politics and politicians is universal.

TIMBER LANDS OF OREGON.

They Are Not Restricted to Residents of County or State.

Complaint of Settlers of Columbia County Made to the Register of the Land Office at Oregon City.

The Oregon City land office is in receipt of a letter signed by nineteen settlers of Columbia county, protesting against the taking up of timber lands in that county by people who are not residents, and asserting that this land is all calculated to become good agricultural land and as such would in a very short time be taken up by actual settlers. This letter, together with a reply by Hon. W. T. Burney, has been furnished THE OREGONIAN for publication:

COUNTY OF COLUMBIA, STATE OF OREGON,
May 6, A. D. 1889.

To the Honorable Register and Receiver of the United States Land Office at Oregon City—Gentlemen: The undersigned, citizens of Columbia county respectfully represent that numbers of persons, who are not residents of this county, are employed by non-resident speculators, and are now selecting the best vacant government lands in our county for entry under the timber land act of June 3, 1878. That all permanent citizens of this county view with regret and deep concern such disposal of the public lands here as being detrimental to their interests, as tending to stop the immigration of permanent settlers, and as being an evasion if not in violation of law.

Your petitioners further represent that there are but very few, if any tracts of land in Columbia county of the character intended in the said timber land act; that on the contrary, the soil is so productive, that it is hardly possible to find a legal subdivision of eighty acres, which has not an amount of tillable land sufficient for a comfortable home; and that there is, therefore, more or less perjury in the proceedings of persons who are trying to obtain title to lands under said act.

Your petitioners therefore respectfully pray that the land department of the government cause the grand jury of the United States court for the district of Oregon to inquire to what extent, if any, perjury is committed in these cases, and that your department adopt such other means as will stop this method of entering land, every acre of which is so soon to be needed by those seeking homes with us. Respectfully,

A. E. BERRIDGE,
And eighteen others.

OREGON CITY, May 28, 1889.

Relative to the foregoing we suggest that all persons who possess the legal qualifications are entitled to make such entries whether residents or not of the county or state. We know of no locality where timber entries have been made and final proof submitted but that citizens of respectability have been among them, and all have sworn substantially to the same facts.

These parties are all subject to close cross-examination and proofs have been and must be clear before entries are passed. And all persons must take notice that the general land office under late ruling of the supreme court, has jurisdiction to cancel these entries and forfeit the money, and the purchaser must beware of his title, therefore. Any citizen or number of citizens may protest against the allowance of an entry, setting forth therein description of land and under oath, giving correct description of character of soil and topography of land showing it to be agricultural and not subject to entry, and such protest if sufficient, will be considered and given its due weight in considering cases. This is all we can do and shall leave the matter to those tribunals having jurisdiction.

We would most humbly suggest, however, that there are ten cases of fraud under the pre-emption and commutation clause of the homestead act to one under the timber act. W. T. BURNEY.

THE EIFFEL TOWER.

How the Tallest Artificial Structure on the Earth Looks To-day.

Vossiche Zeitung.

The monstrous tower designed by Engineer Eiffel for the Paris exposition has three stories or divisions. The first story is sixty metres high (a metre is equal to thirty-nine inches) and rests on the arches which join the four foundation columns that carry upon them the entire weight of the huge tower.

The tower has four distinct sections. Each wing is provided with a refreshment saloon that may be reached by means of winding staircases under the foundation piers. Notwithstanding the center of the space has been set apart for the elevator, there still remain 4200 square metres of store room for the accommodation of visitors who may desire to promenade and enjoy a view of the city from that hight.

The apartments are very roomy, and precautions have been taken to insure the visitors against all possibility of accident.

An iron railing about four feet high, with an arched roof to exclude the intense rays of the sun, surrounds the extreme edge of the platform, as it may be called, which has been reserved as a promenade for those who desire to walk about. The requirements for the comfort of the inner man, too, have not been forgotten. Kitchens, store rooms, ice chests and the like have been fitted up in the most handy manner imaginable, so that there is little occasion to fear that the supply of stimulating refreshments will give out, even in the days when such lodgings in the hotels and private houses will not be obtainable for love or money. Each one of the four cafes is provided with a cellar capable of storing 200 tuns of wine.

Everything about the structure is absolutely fireproof, for iron is the only material that has been used in its construction. Two thousand persons per hour can ascend and descend the staircases leading to the platform, and 4000 can find seats to rest upon in the cafes at one time.

The second story, which is sixty metres above the first one, is also reached by four staircases built inside of the supporting columns, which make a sharp inward curve, leaving but 1400 square metres of surface for the platform and promenade. Here, too, in the commodious and handsomely decorated cafe the thirsty and tired sight-seer may find something more potent than Seine water to recuperate his strength.

This story is ninety-one metres above the tip of the Notre Dame steeple and higher than the tower of the palace of the Trocadero, on the other side of the river, and, as may easily be imagined, the view of the surrounding country to be had from such an altitude is almost indescribable. From here on the columns of the tower fall in towards each other until they ascend a distance of 275 metres above the ground, where the third and last story is situated.

Only one staircase leads to the third story, which is for the exclusive use of the persons employed in the tower, and all visitors are expected to use the elevators, two in number, to reach that point. The platform is eighteen metres square, still large enough to erect thereon a comfortably sized dwelling. The view here is simply superb. The story is equipped with reflecting mirrors and a large supply of field glasses for those who wish to use them. It has been estimated that the ordinary eye can discern objects seventy miles away.

The tower terminates in what is known as the lantern, twenty-five metres above the third section, but this place has been set aside for the use of the scientists for makin observations.

TO PRIESTLY'S MEMORY.

The Memorial Recently Erected in Philadelphia by the Unitarians.

There was recently erected in the First Unitarian church, Philadelphia, a monument to the memory of the eminent theologian and scientist, Dr. Joseph Priestly. The day of the unveiling was the 156th anniversary of the birth of Dr. Priestly, and the celebration was attended by many prominent Unitarian preachers.

Dr. Joseph Priestly was the son of a cloth dresser, and was born in Fieldhead, England, in 1733. His mother died when he was 6 years old, and he was placed in charge of an aunt. At 16 he had made progress in most of the ancient languages. At 19 he entered a dissenting academy, having determined to become a clergyman, but when later he attempted to enter the ministry he was rejected because of his liberal views. His first book, "Rudiments of English Grammar," was published in 1761, and about six years later his acquaintance with Benjamin Franklin, who was then in England, stimulated him to write his "History and Present State of Electricity, with Original Experiments." While he was employed in scientific research he did not neglect his theological studies. In 1776 he was elected to the Royal society. From 1773 until 1780 he was librarian or literary companion to the Earl of Shelbourne, and it was during these years that he attained such eminence as a scientist. Among his discoveries made during these years were nitric oxide, oxygen and ammonia.

In 1780 he took up his residence in Birmingham, where he had charge of an independent congregation. In 1790 he enraged the people by his "Familiar Letters to the Inhabitants of Birmingham," and these were soon followed by "Letters to Right Hon. E. Burke, Occasioned by His Reflections on the Revolution in France." He was now the recognized champion of liberal thought, which made him the subject of severe condemnation. This feeling culminated on July 14, 1791, the anniversary of the French revolution, in a riot in Birmingham, during which his meeting-house and dwelling-house were burned and his library and apparatus destroyed, and many manuscripts, the fruits of years of industry, perished in the flames. Priestly escaped to London and in 1794 sailed for New York.

He went to Northumberland Pa., where his sons had preceded him. In 1796 he visited Philadelphia and delivered a series of lectures on Unitarianism in the old Universalist church at Fourth and Lombard streets. In declining to found a congregation he suggested that a church should be started and conducted by laymen. His suggestion was acted upon. A society was formed in 1796, and in 1813 the congregation erected the first Unitarian church edifice in Philadelphia. In 1828 the building was replaced by a better building. About four years ago this second building was replaced by a new and commodious church on Chestnut street.

The monument at Philadelphia is not the first one erected to the memory of Priestly. His old congregation at Birmingham, England, erected a monument to his memory in their place of worship after his death, and in 1860 a marble statue was placed in the corridor of the museum at Oxford. The centennial of the discovery of oxygen was celebrated on August 1, 1874, by the unveiling of a statute to his memory in Birmingham, an address in Paris and in the United States by a gathering of chemists at his grave in Northumberland, Pa.

The memorial at Philadelphia is over eight feet high and four feet deep, and it is set in the west wall of the church, slightly below the pulpit line, where it can be plainly seen from all parts of the auditorium. It consists of three tablets, a long one in the center and the smaller ones on each side, cut from solid blocks of Sienna marble, framed in a heavy cornice of Algerian marble. The tablets are separated by Grecian columns three feet in hight; also in Algerian marble. Over the end tablets are projecting cornices like to roof of a Greek temple and ornamented at either end with cherubs. The entire length of the main cornice, which is Algerian marble, is carved on superb fretwork.

RAILWAY MORALS.

Not Inferior in the United States to Those in England.

Chicago Times.

Herbert Spencer, the English philosopher, who has published many essays on a variety of subjects, writes to a friend in Chicago that the railway morals and the railway policy of the United States are in no way inferior to those of England. He thinks that the interstate law is an evolution of the parliamentary laws regulating trains. He asserts that the history of English railways since 1845 shows an elaborate system of tactics by which companies have been betrayed into ruinous undertakings that benefit the few at the cost of the many.

He thinks there is more unblushing corruption by the railroads in the English house of commons in the last decade than has ever taken place in the federal or state legislatures since railways became public highways. He says that to-day there are over 180 members of parliament who are simply the agents of railways and similar corporations. Most of these are barristers, who owe their election to the influence of the roads they serve. These parliamentary lawyers serve their masters and supporters of new projects make no sub-rosa statement of the number of votes they can command in the house, but proclaim it openly. Members of both houses are canvassed openly, and any railway legislation involves an enormous outlay.

In past years it has been shown that parliamentary expenses have varied from $3000 to $15,000 per mile, the largest proportion of which has gone into the pockets of the parliamentary lawyers. The legal and parliamentary expenses for one company averaged for the past ten years over $260,000 per annum. He thinks that the Union Pacific scandal of the Garfield period when Oakes Ames's note book contained the names of James Brooks, Schuyler Colfax and others who had received stock, would have been regarded as a perfectly legitimate transaction in England.

Mr. Spencer has placed himself at the head of a league to secure railway reform in Great Britain, where the total capital invested in companies exceeds $1,500,000,000. Considering that much of this vast sum is held by persons with no income but that derived from it, it has become important that railroad property should be placed on a secure footing, bounds put to unwarranted extensions, and intrigues prevented between lawyers, engineers, contractors and others.

MARION COUNTY POOR FARM.

SALEM, May 27.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

In your issue of May 21 you comment on the Statesman's report of the management of the poor farm and the indigent "pensioners" of Marion county. It is a fact, as you say, that the "poor farm" is valuable, and this one fact alone probably inspires the Statesman's tirade. In the cited list of those to whose support Marion county contributes there is not one who lounges about the streets of the city; most of them are absolutely incapable of supporting themselves. In the case of the "Baltimore boy" the only fraud that is apparent, is that the taxpayers get nurse and subsistence for him for $20 a month. He is 25 years old with a head twice the size of an ordinary man and a body of very small dimensions. In the other cases cited, of those who are outside the poorhouse, none can be maintained more economically in it.

As to this valuable poor farm the county court will probably dispose of it for coin. Even this valuable farm tempts but few capable persons to undertake the management and care of the paupers.

A distinguished lawyer of Brooklyn said: "Not long ago I was talking with Mr. Blaine about Colonel Robert G. Ingersoll, whom we both very greatly admire for his wonderful talents. I made the remark that it was my belief that Colonel Ingersoll would ultimately renounce his agnosticism. Mr. Blaine said: 'I think so, too, and I shouldn't be surprised to see him some day in the pulpit.'"

The first paper mill in America was built at Roxborough, near Philadelphia, in 1690, and the first papermaker was William Rittenhouse. Steps are being taken toward the celebration of this bicentennial, and a gathering of papermakers and printers is urged. Horatio Gates Jones has sent circulars to those interested, calling for expressions of opinion relative to the character of the observation.

The trial of the patent case of the Westinghouse Company against the Edison Company opened in the United States court in Pittsburg Monday. Patents worth $20,000,000 are at stake.

MEDICAL ELECTRICITY.

The most wonderful part of man, most difficult to comprehend, perhaps, is the nervous system, which touches and controls every part of the body. Having its root in the brain, its trunk in the spine and its branches extending into and throughout every muscle, limb and organ of the animal frame, it carries either life and health or disease and death along its course.

The brain secretes a nervous fluid which is magnetic in its effects and influences. The magnetic element travels along the nerves like electricity, from the roots of the hair to the tips of the fingers, and through its telegraphic communication permeates the whole system. When the nervous fluid is deficient, or when the nerves do not properly transmit it, weakness and disease is the inevitable result. Electricity, the wonder of the age, roots the disease from its stronghold. It penetrates the secret ambush of disease and exterminates it, root and branch.

It removes the wretched symptoms of of loathsome maladies and avert their dreadful results. It relieves more agony and suffering than tongue can tell, as the following personal references will show:

FLOUR—Receipts for the past week have been [illegible] barrels, a decrease from last week. Eastern Oregon sent in 2104 barrels and the valley [illegible] barrels. The market rules steady but weak. The demand is fair but the stagnation of the wheat market is beginning to have its effect, and the tendency is toward lower prices, without any very great break. We quote standard brands [illegible]; other brands, $3 50.

OATS—The market is glutted and shows no sign of improvement. The receipts for the week past have been 1821 ctls, but slightly less than for the week previous. Trade is fitful and dealings are with consumers direct to a great extent; 30c is obtainable for choice clean oats when wanted, but nothing higher. We quote 29@30c.

MILLSTUFFS—Receipts for the past six days have been [illegible] ctls; of this amount 261 ctls are bran, [illegible] barley and 244 ctls mixed. The market shows but little change. Bran has weakened somewhat and has dropped, but shorts have held firm. We quote: Bran, $13@14; shorts, $14@15; chop, $17 50@20; ground barley, $22 50@24 per ton.

ONIONS—Old onions are about out of the market. New Oregon produce has not yet begun to come in. The market is supplied with California. We quote $1 50 the, latter figure obtainable only for choice selected No. 1 hard.

VEGETABLES—The market is active and full of Oregon produce, California being about run out, only beans, cucumbers and tomatoes coming up. We quote California green tomatoes at $3 a box; cucumbers, 40c a dozen; beans, 5c per pound; Oregon asparagus, 5c; green pease, 6@7c per pound; lettuce, 10c per dozen bunches; carrots 15c per dozen bunches; California cabbage, 1½c; turnips, old, 75c a sack; carrots, old, 75c a sack.

POTATOES—Receipts for the past six days have been 132 sks. The market is slack and the demand is next to nothing. We quote 30@35c for old, 1½c for new.

GREEN FRUITS—Receipts for the past six days have been, 2323 boxes. The market is active with good trading. Apples are about out of the market. California apricots at the box are beginning to come in, cherries at [illegible] per box. Navel oranges are gone. Lemons, $6 50. We quote oranges, Riverside, $3 [illegible], Los Angeles $2 25. Bananas $3 50@4 50 per bunch. Strawberries, Oregon 3c per pound, California apricots $2 a box, cherries 75c@$1 per box.

BUTTER—The receipts for the past week have been 154 pkgs. Market steady, owing to the fact that dairymen have begun to pack, and consequently refuse to send their product to market. We quote fancy choice dairy 20c per pound, 40c a roll, good to fair 15c@17½c, common 10c@12½c.

EGGS—The market is fairly active with good trading. Receipts for the week have been 854 cases. We quote 20c.

POULTRY—The market is active. The demand for all kinds, however, hardly equalling the supply, which is ample. We quote: Chickens, old [illegible]; young broilers $2 50@4, turkeys 20c per pound, ducks and geese nominal at $8@9.

HIDES—Receipts for the past week have been [illegible] pounds. The market is weak and heavily [illegible] and gives every indication of increased stocks and decidedly lower prices. We quote Dry hides, selected prime, 9@10c; green, selected, over 55 pounds, 4c, under 55 pounds, 3c; sheep pelts, short wool, 30@50c, medium, 60@80c, long, [illegible] 75; shearlings, 10@20c; tallow, good to choice, 3@3½c.

HAY—Receipts for the week have been light. The market is heavily stocked and dull. We quote baled and loose alike $13@14.

HOPS—The market is quiet, no hops are coming in.

WOOL—Receipts for the past week have been [illegible] pounds. The market continues dull and weak, with little business being done. We quote Eastern Oregon choice, 15c, heavy, 8@11c, valley [illegible].

PROVISIONS—The market rules even. Eastern meats continue firmer than for some time, but show no advance in prices. We quote: Oregon meats, hams 12½@13c, breakfast bacon 14c, sides 10½@11c, shoulders 9@9½c, lard 10@11c, Eastern hams 12½@13c, breakfast bacon, 12½c, lard 9½@10½c.

DRIED FRUITS—Receipts for the week have been 264 pkgs. The market is well in hand. Oregon prunes are selling more freely at the reduced rates and dealers are sending Oregon fruit to the exclusion of imported lots. We quote Sun dried apples quarters 5@6c, sliced 5@6c, bleached Plummer dried 6@7c, unbleached Plummer dried [illegible]. Oregon prunes, Italians 8c, silver prunes [illegible], petite 6½@7c, German 6@6½c. Pears, Plummer dried 10c, sun dried and factory plums 7@8c, peaches, firm at 8@10c. Raisins $1 75@2 25 a box. Smyrna figs 14@15c, California figs 8c per pound.

LONDON GRAIN LETTER.

Writing under date of May 13, the London correspondent of the Northwestern Miller says: After a week of very fine, warm weather, which was highly favorable for the growing crops, the temperature is again rather colder with rain. Crop reports remain very satisfactory in England, France, Belgium and Holland. In Germany the condition of the young plant has improved, and from Hungary too, the reports are more favorable than before, while from the south of Russia fewer complaints are heard. From India the latest reports state that the new wheat is coming forward very slowly, which is the usual sign of a short crop, and the exports thus far in the season, are well behind those of the two previous years. Australia is importing instead of exporting, and from New Zealand the latest accounts show that the crop is by no means so large as was first anticipated. Chili and Argentine continue to be conspicuous by their absence as exporting countries. The wheat trade this week has been steady, under the influence of the very favorable weather and the large imports into the United Kingdom last week, the same being estimated at [illegible] bushels beyond our requirements. This, however, was largely counterbalanced by the reduction in the quantity afloat, which, moreover, may be expected to continue to diminish gradually. Holders have not been able to maintain late rates, [illegible] being the highest price obtainable for No. 1 California arrived off the coast, prompt shipments being held at 34s 6d. Nevertheless there has been no pressure to sell, and toward the close of the week buyers became rather more numerous, and the tendency on Saturday was decidedly firmer. The Washington agricultural bureau's May report on the condition of the growing winter wheat crops came, however, to hand Saturday evening, and as it puts the condition two points above April, viz., 96 against 94, it has a steadying effect on buyers, who translate it to mean that the winter wheat crop this year will be [illegible] bushels, against 277,000,000 bushels last year, an increase of 58,000,000 bushels or 7,250,000 qrs. While on the subject of the Washington agricultural bureau, it is worth noting that our British agricultural department, which is likely to be thoroughly recognized as a separate [illegible], has recently been copying some statistics from the late report of the United States department statist, who gave an estimate of the world's wheat crop of 1888 in 60 lb. bushels. How [illegible] this estimate was as a whole, and how [illegible] the distinction of an official document, is shown by the following: Spain is credited by Statistician Dodge with 101,136,876 bushels, while the official figures are 65,760,000 bushels. France is put down for 273,680,000 bushels, but the official estimate is 266,000,000. India's crop was 250,000,000, not 266,832,500. Hungary reaped 126,600,000 bushels, not 131,700,000. Austria's crop was 37,470,000, not 51,075,000 bushels. Lastly the American crop of 1888 in 60 lb. bushels was 391,000,000, not 415,868,000 bushels. It is almost time that your government statist issued more reliable reports than this, and our British department ought to know better than to copy erroneous information when the best sources are open to it.

The Merchandise Market.

The fine growing weather continues and reports from all sections of the country are to the effect that crops will be very heavy. Fruit of all kinds will also be abundant. Strawberries are very plentiful and down to 3c a pound. Much trouble has been experienced in procuring boxes. The mill which supplies them has been running extra hours with a capacity of 7000 boxes per day, and has still been unable to supply the demand. There will be a heavy yield of prunes though, apples are scarce in some localities. The sugar market has advanced ⅛c all along the line, but has held steady since.

Mormons in South Idaho.

Correspondence Salt Lake Tribune.

The Blackfoot (Idaho) land office is doing a big business in the way of land entries, especially of the lands in upper Snake river valley, where the Mormon church is massing about 3000 people this season. The faithful in Utah who have been struggling under tithing, temple, defense fund and other burdens, have been sent on "missions" to settle the Idaho plains and build up the country in the interests of the Latter Day gospel, with the chief idea of gaining such political power as will control affairs in the "Gem of the Mountains." The big Co-op. has got a cinch on the country through having bought out Bunting & Wheeler at Eagle Rock, and are trying to control all the trade of that half of Bingham county. Bishop Ricks boasts that they will own all the country clear up to the upper end of Teton basin. Dozens of teams are passing north every day through Eagle Rock, while quite a number are settling about that town and taking lots and buildings formerly owned by railroad men.

There is much activity along Snake river in putting in crops and making ditches. The Market lake ditch is being pushed, and much of that valuable land will be planted this season. The crop acreage for a hundred or more miles above American Falls will be double this year what it was last. Eagle Rock is soon to have a modern flouring mill in operation.

No pill or nauseating potion, but a pleasant tonic and purgative is Simmons Liver Regulator.

Is the cause of Boils, Carbuncles, Pimples, Eczema, and cutaneous eruptions of all kinds. There can be no permanent cure for these complaints until the poison is eliminated from the system. To do this thoroughly, the safest and most effective medicine is Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Give it a trial.

"For the past twenty-five years I have sold Ayer's Sarsaparilla. In my opinion, the best remedial agencies for the cure of all diseases arising from impurities of the blood are contained in this medicine."—G. C. Brock, Druggist, Lowell, Mass.

"My wife was for a long time a sufferer from tumors on the neck. Nothing did her any good until she tried Ayer's Sarsaparilla, two bottles of which made a complete cure."—W. S. Martin, Burning Springs, W. Va.

"We have sold Ayer's Sarsaparilla here for over thirty years and always recommend it when asked to name the best blood-purifier."—W. T. McLean Druggist, Augusta, Ohio.

HONORS, TEARS, FLOWERS,

For the Sleeping Dust of the Brave Who Fell for the Union.

How the G. A. R. Boys Will Observe Decoration Day in Portland—Full Programme of the Exercises.

No rumor of the foe's advance
 Now swells upon the wind;
No troubled thought at midnight haunts
 Of loved ones left behind;
No vision of the morrow's strife,
 The warrior's dream alarms,
No braying horn or screaming fife
 At dawn shall call to arms.

The neighing troop, the flashing blade,
 The bugle's stirring blast,
The charge, the dreadful cannonade,
 The din and shout are passed;
Nor war's wild note, nor glory's peal,
 Shall thrill with fierce delight
Those breasts that never more may feel
 The rapture of the fight.

Another year has come and gone, and the members of the G. A. R. again gather about the graves of their departed comrades to strow flowers and garlands for memory's sake. The national decoration day will be observed in Portland with appropriate exercises; business will be suspended, and the people will do homage to the memory of the soldiers who have fallen in the great struggle. In memory's chain, love and gratitude reserve for them one link of lasting brightness.

Below is given a full programme as prepared by the decoration committee for the observance of this, May 30, as Memorial day. The exercises will be conducted under the auspices of the grand army posts (George Wright post, No. 1; Garfield post, No. 3; Lincoln post, No. 4, and Sumner post, No. 12) and the George Wright Women's relief corps, No. 2.

The First regiment, O. N. G., will participate in the parade and act as escort to the G. A. R. as far as the Morrison street bridge. At this point a halt will be made. The companies will be formed in line and present arms as the old veterans pass. Members of the G. A. R. and their friends will board the cars chartered for their exclusive use, and proceed direct to Lone Fir cemetery, where the afternoon exercises will take place, and the militia boys will return to the armory to break ranks.

THE PROGRAMME—FOR MORNING AND EVENING SERVICE.

9 A. M.—Details from the posts of the city will report at Grand Army hall, and from thence proceed to and decorate soldiers' graves at Mount Calvary, Riverview and Grand Army cemeteries.

1 P. M.—The several posts of the G. A. R. of this city and the Relief corps, W. R. C., will assemble at Grand Army hall and prepare for parade, each post being in command of its senior post officer. The First regiment, O. N. G., will proceed direct from its Armory to the place of formation of parade.

1:30 P. M.—Procession will form as follows: The Grand Army posts on First street, right resting on Salmon street, facing east; First regiment, O. N. G., Colonel Charles F. Beebe, commanding, on First street, right resting on Salmon street, facing west.

2 P. M.—Procession will move, the O. N. G. as escort to the G. A. R., west on Salmon street to Sixth, down Sixth to Morrison, east on Morrison to the bridge, where cars will be in readiness to convey the Grand Army division to Lone Fir cemetery, whereat upon arrival the following services will be had:

Dirges	First Regiment Band
Prayer	Chaplain Rev. T. E. Clapp
Reading	Adjutant N. S. Pierce
Remarks	Commander H. H. Northup

Remarks—Officer of the Day F. R. Neale, with deposit of wreath.

Address for W. R. C.—President Mrs. H. B. Baker, with deposit of flowers, followed by members of the corps.

Salute to the Dead—By firing party under command of Officer of the Guard E. W. Eaton.

The post will then by details decorate the graves of their departed comrades in Lone Fir and St. Mary's cemeteries.

The First regiment band will precede the G. A. R. on its march throughout, and at the cemetery play dirges and appropriate music during the decoration of the graves.

The decoration being completed the organizations will return to their headquarters in the command of their senior officer.

TO THE PUBLIC.

The committee on arrangements wish to remind the public that it is customary to close all places of business and display flags at half mast. This is generally done as a matter of course, but a reminder may not be out of place.

The members of the G. A. R. expect to reach the cars at 2:30 o'clock and with their friends proceed to the cemetery. The public are requested to make their arrangements accordingly and not intrude upon the rights of the old vets at that hour.

If there are any war veterans in the city, not members of any of the G. A. R. posts, they will be welcomed in the procession and should by all means make themselves known.

LIVELY TIME WITH A PANTHER.

A Farmer Near Middleton Finds One Interviewing His Hogs and Lays It Dead—Exciting Chase.

C. H. Delany, a young farmer living three miles northwest of Middleton, had an exciting time with a large panther Monday night, but finally succeeded in dispatching it.

About half-past 11 o'clock in the evening he heard a loud commotion in his back yard, and upon going out he saw a large panther trying to make a square meal out of one of his choicest hogs. He very wisely did not press any too close to observe whether the panther had a Græco-Roman or catch-as-catch-can hold, although it undoubtedly had the latter, preferring rather to let his two small dogs do the scaring, if any was to be done. When the dogs got out and commenced to bark (also at a respectful distance), the panther took to flight and seemed to disappear in a small patch of timber.

Mr. Delany called the dogs back, and was about to re-enter the house, when he heard the panther on the other side of the building, raising great consternation among the chickens. The dogs again started in pursuit and "treed" the fierce animal a short distance from the house. Mr. Delany procured a lantern and was peering into the tree when he saw two fiery eyes glaring at him from a lower limb. The panther evidently was just ready to spring upon him, but his wife quickly pulled him aside. It then jumped from the tree and, after running a short distance, again took to a tree. This was repeated several times, the dogs each time being so close to to the animal that it was obliged to seek refuge in a tree.

When the panther was treed for the last time, Mr. Delany built a roaring fire under the tree, and leaving his wife in charge, went after a gun. Such a firearm was not so easily procured, and over a mile and a half was walked before one was found.

Returning to his home he replenished the fire and proceeded to mould bullets with which to dispatch the formidable carnivora. The panther all the time kept watching the process of making the leaden balls that soon were to be buried under its skin.

Six balls were put into the gun, and when the charge was fired something came down with a resounding thud. The panther ran about twenty rods and then yielded up the ghost. It was found that the entire charge had entered the breast of the animal.

Being afterwards measured it was found to be six feet two and one-half inches in length and fully three feet high. It must have weighed at least 300 pounds.

SO HE STOLE THE CERTIFICATES.

Joseph Foster Finds Himself Booked For a Good Long Term in State's Prison.

About a week ago a fellow purchased a suit of clothing at Kohn's, and tendered in payment a certificate of deposit on the Portland Savings bank for $340. He endorsed it "A. N. Carlson," and Kohn sent it to the bank to see if it was all right. The bank did not know A. N. Carlson, but had money on deposit for "A. W. Carlson." The purchaser of the clothing came down to the bank and said that he sometimes signed his name "A. N." and sometimes "A. W.," and as he was somewhat intoxicated nothing wrong was suspected, and he took up a pen and signed his name "A. W. Carlson, and was paid the money, when he redeposited $100 and went off.

Last Thursday the real A. W. Carlson came to the bank and stated that his trunk had been robbed, and several certificates of deposit, a watch, etc., stolen. It was then seen that the fellow who drew the money from the bank had forged Carlson's name, and the police were notified and a bright lookout was kept up for him. A few days later another of Carlson's certificates of deposit came in from Mrs. Wagner, on the macadamized road. On inquiry by Policeman Barry it was found that the same fellow had passed the certificate in payment for a champagne supper for himself and a cyprian whom he had taken there. The woman was hunted up and a description of the forger obtained and the authorities of neighboring towns notified to look out for him. The fellow had gone to Vancouver and had there borrowed $20 on the third certificate, and the sheriff, learning of this, arrested him and sent him over here yesterday morning.

He proved to be one Joseph Foster, who had worked a week at the Oregon Pottery Works, and had roomed with Carlson, who is employed at the North Pacific Lumber Mills. He had found out that Carlson had certificates of deposit, and had stolen them, and having studied Carlson's signature which he had written on the wall of his room beside that of another person named Carlson, Foster was enabled to imitate the name very well. He had a regular "hurrah" time with Carlson's money which is about the last spree he is likely to have for some time.

He said yesterday that Carlson was a Scandinavian who has no business to work for $1 75 a day, and because he did this, Foster stole his certificates. Foster is about 30 years of age and claims to be an Englishman. He is a worthless fellow, of whose history but little is known.

He was arraigned in the police court yesterday on two charges of forgery and a charge of the larceny of $570. He waived examination and was held to answer before the grand jury in $1000 bonds on each charge of forgery, and $500 on the charge of larceny. In default of bonds he went to jail, and it is likely to be some time ere he again wanders at his own sweet will and plies himself with champagne at the expense of an honest working man.

THE NARROW GAUGE CO.'S TROUBLES.

Receiver Scott Starts a Train Out—The New Crew—The Former Employes—Etc.

Receiver Scott succeeded in getting a train started out from Dundee junction with the mail at 9:15 last night over the west side narrow gauge. The crew he sent to Ray's landing returned to Dundee, and reported that the strikers at Ray's prevented Ray from taking them across the river on his ferry. They have been sent around another way and will get there early this morning.

Deputy Marshal Waite returned from Dundee yesterday, having been unable to find anybody to arrest. Mr. Scanlon, an engineer, came down last evening. His engine was disabled by some one, but no one knew who did it. The fact remains that two of three engines were disabled.

THE OREGONIAN received a communication from Parrott & Co., of Dundee, last evening, stating that a committee from the employes of the Oregonian railway had requested them to state that they knew nothing about any damage having been done to any of the company's property, and that they do not approve of any such means.

They intimate that they fear that the men sent out by Mr. Scott to take their places have damaged the company's property, with the intention of injuring the employes who have quit work.

THE OREGONIAN wishes to take no sides in this trouble between the employes and the company, and only wishes justice done to all, but must say that the above inference looks rather thin. It is to be hoped that the trains may be kept running, as the stoppage of them cannot benefit any one, and may forfeit the company's mail contracts. Any damage to the company's property, or any interference with the men sent to take the places of those who quit work, should be severely punished, and will be if the perpetrators are caught.

He says, further, that he is trying his best to fill orders promptly, but he requests all in need of a thresher to order early.

POLLARD SYSTEM ADOPTED.

City Superintendent Sabin Explained Its Advantages to the School Board.

The Directors Agreed to Put the White System of Drawing Into Use Though the Prang System Was Preferred.

The school directors at their meeting yesterday afternoon, voted to continue the Pollard system of readers in the schools, as recommended by the executive committee appointed to revise the course of study of the primary and grammar grades. There had been some objection to the system, and at the meeting Friday night to adopt it was voted down, Directors Durham and George, and Chairman Thompson voting no. Then the vote was reconsidered and the subject made the order for yesterday afternoon.

The board spent the first hour of its session in agreeing upon the amount of fuel and stationery that will be required during the next school year. It was decided to advertise for bids for 300 cords of oak and 120 cords of fir. The bids will be opened at the regular meeting June 20.

The board then discussed whether it would adopt the Prang or the White system of drawing. City Superintendent Sabin preferred the former but the state board has adopted the latter, and the White system could not, according to law, be dispensed with, without entailing the forfeiture of state school money. The penalty is too great for the risk and the board decided to take no chances and adopted the White system.

When the Pollard system was called up, Miss Sabin was asked to give her opinion of its workings in the Portland schools. In response, she said it had been in use but four months, and she was very much pleased with it; that it had already reached ends that the old word system never reached; that it teaches the pupils to make out words for themselves, and that it calls into play their logical faculties.

"The laws which run through the system of orthography are very well presented in the Pollard readers," continued the city superintendent. "The children of our schools are not good readers. The average child, after four years of schooling, is not a good reader. The child should learn to read as soon as he enters school; he should learn to know how to learn something, and that is just what the Pollard system teaches him. Learning to read is one of the most difficult things that confronts the child pupil."

In reply to a question Miss Sabin said that about 1500 of the Pollard books—500 first readers and about 1000 primers—are now in use in this city. She said the teachers had not had much experience with the system and therefore felt that they had not made so much progress as they should.

The board discussed the subject, and clearly saw that some sort of supplementary reading was needed, as the readers adopted by the county superintendents are insufficient. The Pollard system was adopted, Directors Ladd and Therkelsen voting for it and Director George against it. Director Durham did not vote.

Before adjourning the board authorized the executive committee to work in the course of study in the best manner possible.

A "MARRIAGE" THAT IS NOT A MARRIAGE

A Man and Woman Cannot Be Man and Wife by Merely Signing an Agreement.

A few days ago a couple, who had previously obtained a license, assumed the relations of man and wife without the services of any person legally qualified to solemnize marriages. They simply drew up an agreement which set forth their willingness to be husband and wife, signed it, and had the witnesses to the union sign it. The document was then filed in the county clerk's office in the manner that certificates of those who solemnize marriages are. The "marriage" of this couple—G. L. Henderson and Hannah B. Horton—is illegal according to the laws of the state. Section 2856 of Hill's code says on the subject:

"In the solemnization of marriage, no particular form is required, except that the parties thereto shall assent or declare in the presence of the minister, priest, or judicial officer solemnizing the same, and in the presence of at least two attending witnesses, that they take each other to be husband and wife."

In the case of Holmes vs. Holmes, 1 Sawyer, 99, the following, bearing on marriages, is to be found:

"In this state the law requires that the consent of parties to become husband and wife must be declared in the presence of a person authorized by such law to solemnize marriages and two witnesses, and without the observance of these formalities the marriage relation cannot be created and entered into; and hence living together as man and wife, although evidence of a previous marriage, cannot make parties man and wife, nor can any length of cohabitation, however exclusive, ever constitute the relation of marriage."

THE ANNUAL MEETING

Of the Directors of the Washington School for Defective Youth.

The annual meeting of the directors of the Washington School for Defective Youth was held at Vancouver yesterday. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: J. Randolph Smith, president; Louis Sohns, treasurer; J. D. Geoghegan, auditor. Executive committee, J. R. Thompson, F. J. Parker.

The treasurer's report showed a surplus of $160 in favor of the trustees. The term ends to-day, and the deaf and dumb children, twenty-five in number, leave for their respective homes on a two months' vacation.

After the meeting, by invitation of the building committee, the directors visited and inspected the handsome, new building above the military reserve, facing the Columbia river, erected at a cost of $30,000. It will be ready for occupancy by next term, and it was a source of great satisfaction that such a fine building was provided for the noble purpose—the education of the deaf and dumb and the blind of the new state of Washington.

A syndicate of gentlemen in Vancouver have agreed to take the building and grounds, paying therefor the whole amount the school has cost Washington territory from its inception to its completion, in case of any dissatisfaction. As the building itself, to say nothing of the fifteen acres of land attached to it, could not be duplicated to-day for $50,000, it is hardly possible that the new state will care to let go of the property.
